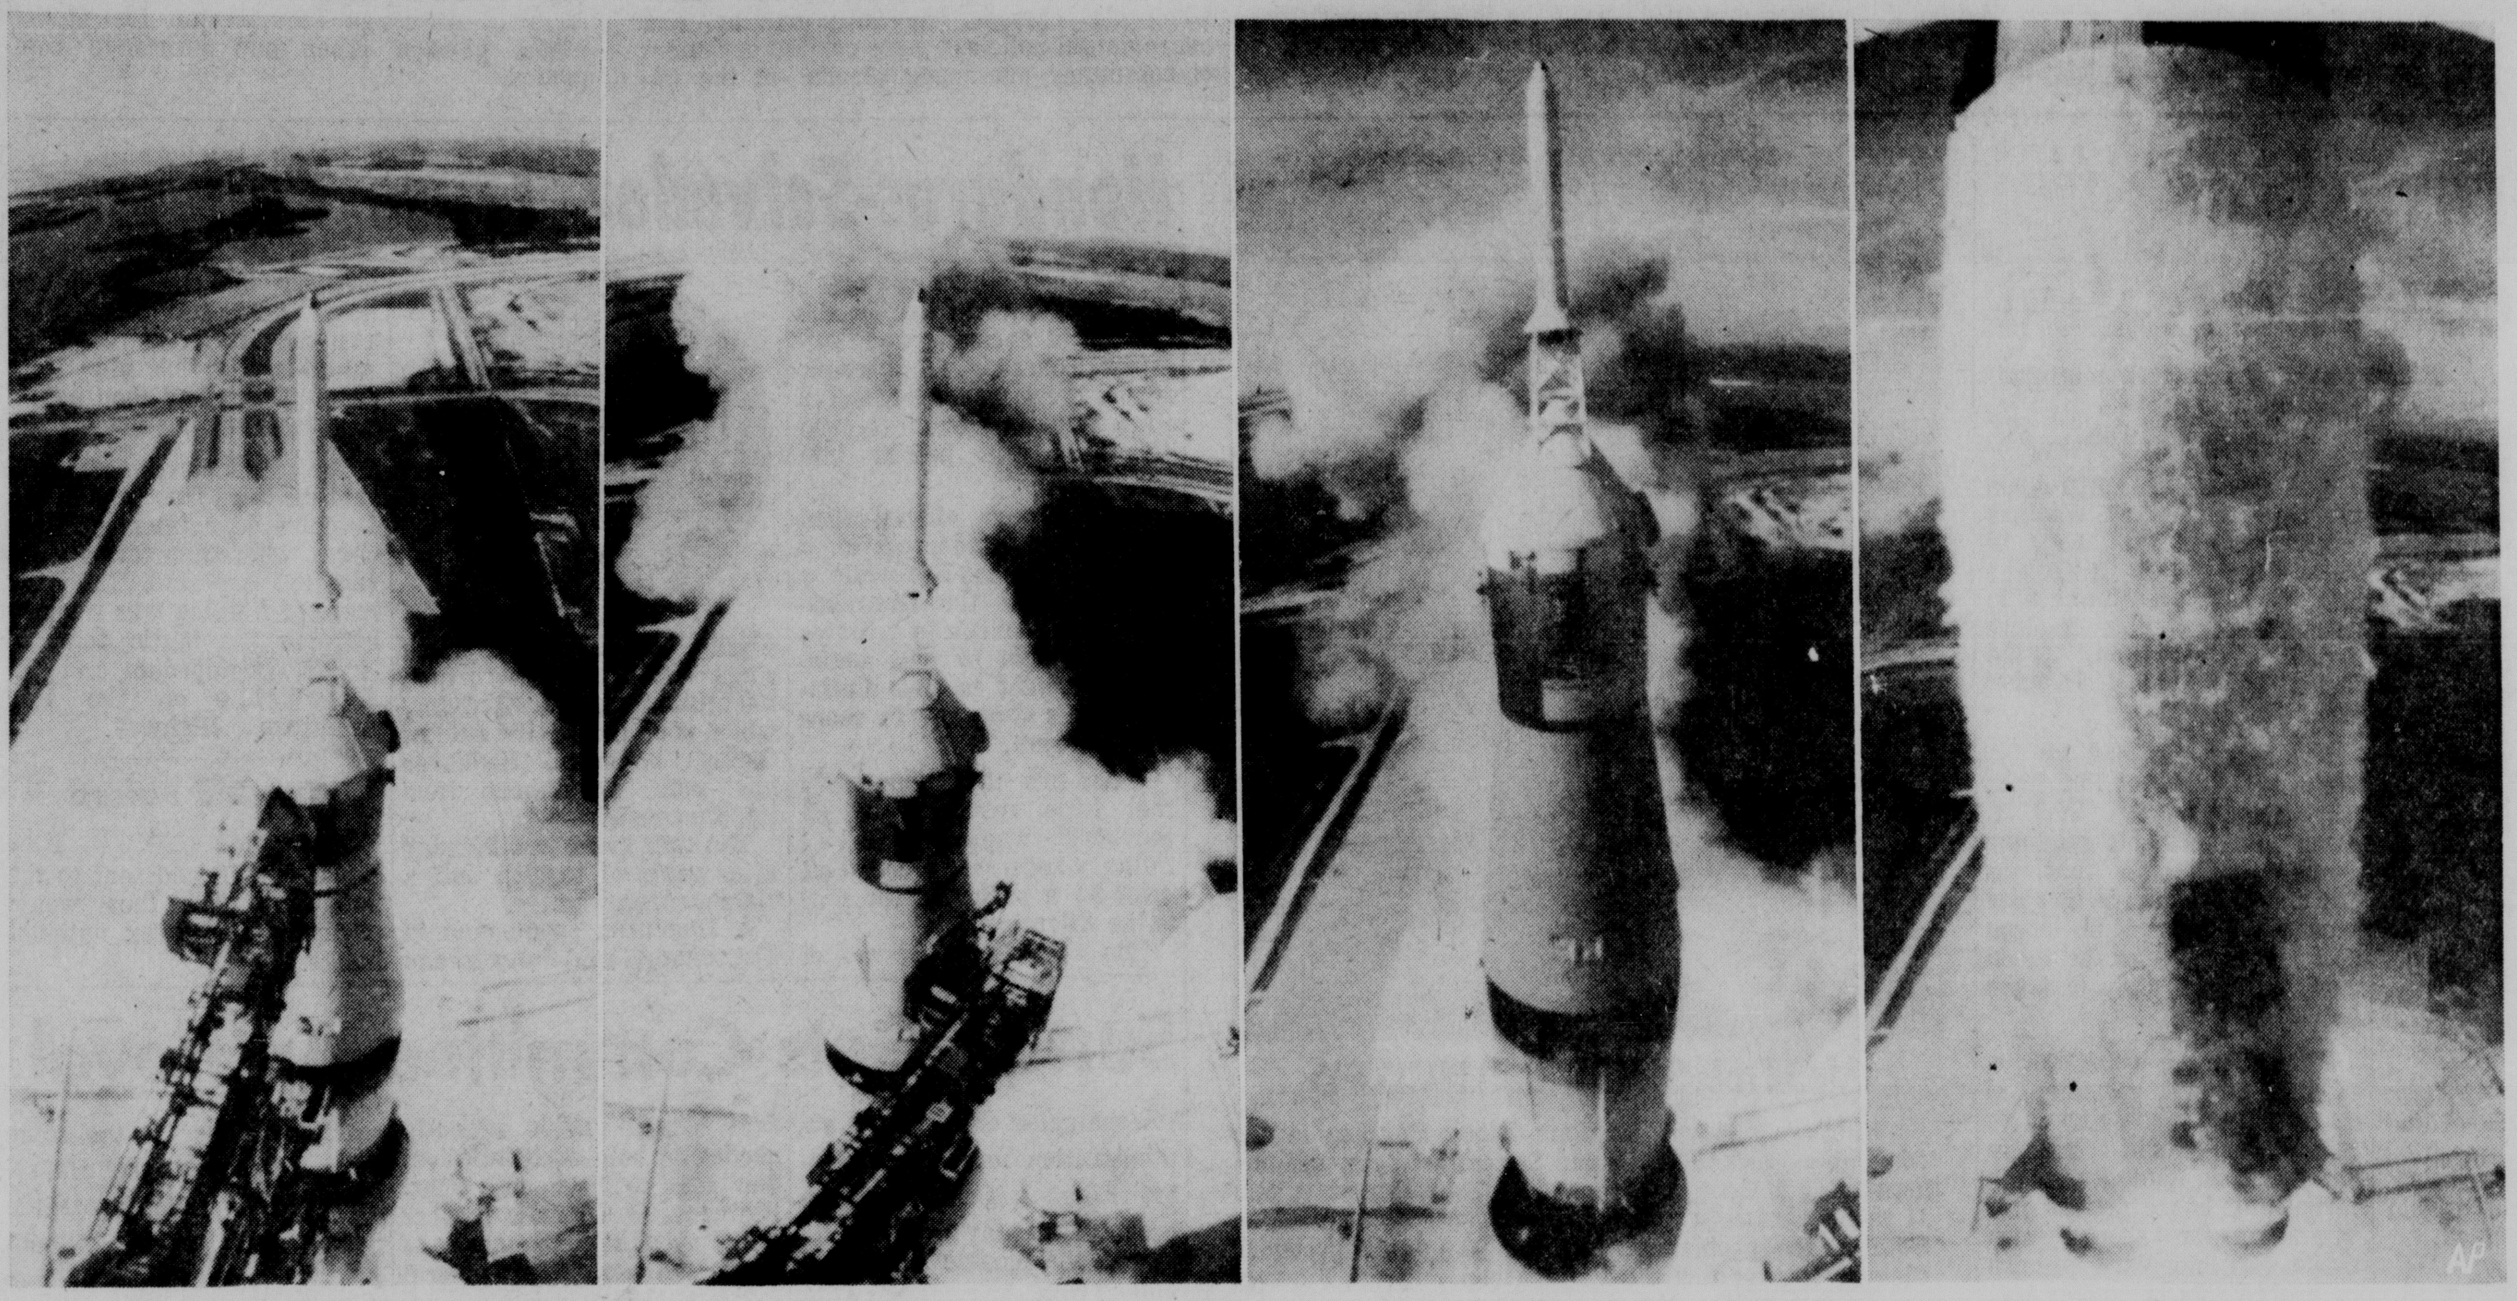
APOLLO 11 TIGHTENS COURSE



MOON ROCKET'S BLASTOFF . . . is caught by a remote-control camera attached to the 360-foot level of the support tower.

Red Craft Is In Orbit

. . . MAY STEAL GLORY

Space Center, Houston (AP) — Three Americans shared by live color television the crazy world they live in Thursday, still shadowed by the chance a Soviet robot rocket would try to steal some of the glory from their effort to take the first steps on the moon.

The Soviet Luna 15, unmanned, was in an orbit from which it could land on the lunar surface before Apollo 11 and complete a mission some observers believe it had: To head back to earth with the first samples of lunar soil.

Show Lasts 35 Minutes

Aware of Luna's close orbit, civilian Neil A. Armstrong, Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins beamed back to earth a 35-minute television show of the sights they see from space and shots of themselves.

They showed a cloudy-blue, moonlike earth, made it turn cartwheels by turning their camera, and brought it right-side-up again. They took the world on a tour of their cabin, showing their electronic calendar, star chart, food locker, American flag shoulder patches and the crest that is the symbol of their mission, depicting an eagle landing on the moon.

The pictures were so clear that viewers could clearly make out the numbers on the astronaut's instrument console calendar and clock.

Collins Beams

Later, Collins introduced the tour of the inside as the camera focused on his beaming face.

"Hello there sports fans," he said. "Neil is in the center couch and Buzz (Aldrin) is doing the camera work."

Then there was some exercising. First Neil Armstrong appeared upside down in a world that has no upside down.

Then Collins handled the camera and narration and offerel, "If we can get some of the wires untangled here, we'll give you a demonstration of how easy push-ups are up here." And in his weightless world, Buzz Aldrin demonstrated push-ups.

"And when it gets hard doing it that way, we just roll over and do it the other way," he said. And Aldrin did.

To The Pantry

Collins finally took the viewers to the pantry. With the aid of a flashlight, he fished out a plastic package.

"Would you believe you're looking at chicken stew?" Collins asked. "All you have to do is add three ounces of hot water and blend for five or ten minutes."

Finally the television visit ended, and the astronauts were left alone with their spaceship world and their thoughts of what their Sunday landing would bring.

It was the most talking that had come out of the three in a long time.

There was the possibility that Luna 15 would not really land, that it was only up there to measure lunar gravity, take lunar pictures, from its 62-mile altitude.

Error Discovered

Earlier British astronomers who had tracked her believel she was higher, ranging 600 to 1,200 miles above the lunar surface, not compatible with a lunar landing effort. When they discovered their error, it led Sir Bernard Lovell of the Jodrell Bank Radio Observatory in England to say he thought Luna would land on the moon Friday.

American experts emphasized there was no chance of a collision with Apollo 11 now aimel to orbit the moon just 60 miles over the moon.

Speed Up 14 M.P.H.

Just after 11 a.m. Thursday, the Apollo 11 pilots fired their spacecraft engine with one three-second burst, enough to add 14 miles an hour to their speed and narrow their aim on the moon. Their old course would have taken them no closer than 200 miles from the lunar surface.

The ship still struggled against the pull of earth's gravity, its speed — once up to 24,000 miles an hour — now less than 3,000 miles an hour.

The brief burst from the spacecraft engine in the course correction maneuver was good news. This is the engine that will brake their speed Saturday to send them into lunar orbit. The same engine will boost them toward home Monday.

Tiemann Praises Unicam, Reveals Travel Plans

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

In an unusual personal appearance before the Legislature, Gov. Norbert Tiemann Thursday showered lawmakers with praise and revealed plans to go to Washington to discuss Nebraska problems with three Cabinet officers.

Tiemann's brief good-natured talk appeared to ease the friction which has developed between the governor and the Legislature and it served to point out the purpose of his trips outside the state.

Responding with good fellowship, lawmakers sang a lusty chorus of "Happy Birthday" to Tiemann on the eve of his 45th birthday.

Appointments

The governor will leave for Washington Monday for appointments with:

—Secretary of Labor George Shultz for discussion of possible funding of a vocational technical school in Omaha's Near North Side, the scene of ugly civil disturbances only weeks ago.

—Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin for discussion about administration of a proposed state meat inspection law.

—Secretary of Transportation John Volpe for a conference on "the future of general aviation in Nebraska," particularly aimed at the development of jet cargo transportation.

Tiemann said he will also meet with Nebraska's congressional delegation.

Heaping praise on the Legislature, the governor hailed enactment earlier in the day of a statewide open housing act, revival of the proposed meat inspection law, and the Unicameral's refusal to recess or adjourn before its business is completed.

"Thank you for facing up to these problems," Tiemann said. "I commend you."

The governor said passage of the open housing act will "do away with the discrimination which has existed" in Nebraska by writing into "meaningful" law guarantees which already reside in the state constitution.

Appreciation

"You have my personal compliments and the appreciation of 1½ million citizens," he said. And, Tiemann promised, the law will be vigorously enforced as long as he is governor.

Responding directly, but with good humor, to personal legislative criticism, Tiemann said his trip this week to the Nebraska National Guard's summer encampment at Camp Ripley, Minn., involved "no tents and no cocktails."

And, he said, "contrary to reports, I was not admitted on board" the Apollo 11 spacecraft at Cape Kennedy where Tiemann viewed the moon launch Wednesday.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff had suggested that the governor would be "sipping cocktails" at Camp Ripley, and Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha expressed a wish that Tiemann might be rocketed to the moon after he reached Florida.

'Outstanding'

Tiemann said Guardsmen are "doing an outstanding job" in Minnesota, and he urged continued support for the space program, contending that the nation is wealthy enough to conquer space and solve its "severe social problems."

Noting the pressures of a long legislative session, now in its 127th day, the governor alluded to "dissension" between the executive and legislative branches of government, "some of it healthy, a lot of it not healthy."

Working together, he said, the two branches can serve the public. "I recommend we stay on the job," he said.

STATE, COUNTY OKAY HOLIDAY; CITY UNDECIDED

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Thursday declared a holiday for state employes next Monday to honor the Apollo 11 astronauts on their moon landing but the Legislature decided against doing the same.

Because of the Legislature's decision not to go along with President Nixon's recommendation but to work instead, Tiemann said the state offices will not close completely but will be manned with skeleton staffs.

Tiemann also urged all private businesses in the state to observe the moon landing day as a holiday.

In voting 24-14 against taking the day off, the Legislature indicated it would probably mark the occasion with a brief ceremony of some sort.

Lancaster County officers, except for the county and district courts, will remain closed Monday, according to Lancaster County Board Chairman Kenneth Bourne.

Apparently most businesses will remain open, although Bankers Life Nebraska announced it will be closed Monday. Bank officials indicated Thursday that they plan to be open but they might reverse that decision Friday.

In compliance with Nixon's announcement the Post Office will be closed.

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said he is still considering whether or not City Hall will be closed Monday. He said he will make his decision Friday.

Danner Sees Open Housing Law Enacted After 6-Year, 4-Bill Battle

It took six years and four bills, but Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha Thursday finally saw the day when his colleagues were willing to enact a statewide open housing law.

"I am very pleased and I am very happy," Danner said in an interview following the Unicameral's 38-6 enactment of a broad fair housing act. (See story on Page 28.)

"It definitely will open up areas which have been closed" to minority citizens, he declared.

Will Help Them

And it will help them in clearing the financial barrier which has sometimes prevented them from finding new and better housing, Danner said.

"Banks and loan companies can't refuse a housing loan on the factor of race alone as they have in the past," he noted.

"I know they have cooperated with each other in some instances in the past to close certain specified areas to minority citizens."

Only Negro

Danner, the Legislature's only black member, sponsored open housing bills in each of the past three sessions, and that's every session since he was first elected in 1962.

In 1963, Danner himself had to make the motion to kill his open housing bill because he believed the Legislature had so gutted the proposal by amendments that it had been rendered meaningless.

In 1965, it was killed in committee, and Danner could muster only 12 votes to revive it on the floor.

In 1967, after bitter debate one June day, it was killed on a 28-21 vote.

Danner is co-sponsor of this year's successful effort. Sen. Donald Elrod of Grand Island was chief sponsor.

"It's a very good bill," Danner said. "And I am particularly pleased that it passed with such a large number of votes."

Danner said some people "may be critical of the bill" because a provision which would have allowed recovery of punitive damages by an aggrieved citizen was removed on the floor.

"But what I wanted was to establish a vehicle to solve the problem," he noted. "We now have such a vehicle."

If it needs improvements, they can be attached in 1971, he said.

Will the bill help race relations?

"It will help, but we still have a long way to go," Danner said. "We have a real job to do in that area if all people are going to live in peace and harmony.

"I do hope it will have a stabilizing effect."

Michaelis To Be Chief In S. Korea

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon promoted Lt. Gen. John H. Michaelis to four-star rank Thursday and named him to succeed Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel III as U.S. commander in Korea.

Michaelis, now Bonesteel's deputy, will assume command of the 8th Army and the United Nations Command in Korea Oct. 1. Bonesteel has been the Korean commander since September, 1966.

Friends, Foes Of ABM Swap Data In Secrecy

Washington (AP) — Friends and foes of the Safeguard antiballistic missile system swapped secret data in an unusual closed Senate debate Thursday and opponents demanded a second such session, thus apparently foreclosing any early voting test.

After 5¾ hours of sometimes heated discussion behind tightly closed doors, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a leading ABM opponent, said he would ask another secret session in a week to 10 days to reply to material offered Thursday by pro Safeguard forces.

Asked if he thinks any votes had been changed, Symington said "I think it probably is pretty well wrapped up. I think everybody's pretty well made up their minds."

Mansfield Agrees

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana agreed, saying "Very few if any minds were changed."

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said he doesn't need another closed session for the pro-ABM side but that it is all right with him to have one.

Mansfield said some 92 or 93 of the 100 senators were present for the session.

Symington presented the Pentagon chart he has said shows Safeguard would provide only limited additional protection for U.S. long-range missiles. Proponents also displayed a chart.

Mansfield indicated more new material was presented than at the Senate's last previous secret session, last October, also on the ABM. "This was a good deal more interesting," he said.

The Senate has had only four such sessions in the past seven years.

Stennis reported also that the Army has supplied him with data on recent tests of the Spartan, one of two missiles that are involved in the proposed ABM system.

Of nine tests at the Pacific test center on Kwajalein, he said, "six of them were considered completely successful, two were partially successful and one was a failure."

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird testified in May there had been six successes and two partial successes.

Business Blamed

Washington (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said big business is to blame for the nation's inflationary spiral.

Stock Dealings Up

Mexico City (UPI) — The Mexico City Stock Exchange, founded in 1891, had a turnover of more than 20 million shares, worth more than $2.2 billion, in 1968, an all-time high.

Loder Offers Condolences

Omaha (AP) — Former police patrolman James L. Loder, charged with manslaughter in connection with the June 24 shooting of a 14-year-old Negro girl, says he is "in no way prejudiced as to race, color or creed."

Loder made public Thursday a statement in which he expressed condolences to the family of the slain girl.

The 30-year-old former policeman, free on $500 bond, is charged with shooting Vivian Strong as he and his partner investigated a report of a break-in near the Strong home.

His statement was released in the form of a letter to his attorney, Joseph J. Vance of Omaha.

The shooting of the girl touched off three nights of violence on Omaha's predominately Negro Near North Side.

In his letter, Loder, who is white, said that while in the Air Force serving in Labrador for 18 months he had a Negro roommate.

He also claimed that he had "worked with, entertained and been entertained by many blacks in the past." And he pointed out that on the night of the shooting his police partner was a Negro.

He closed his letter by saying "the incident of June 24, 1969 grieves me, not only for myself but for the friends and family of Vivian Strong.

Loder said in the letter that on the advice of his attorney, he would not go "into matters involving the case against me."

Landing May Bring Lots Of Scientific Discoveries

The New York Times

By WALTER SULLIVAN

Houston — Despite grumbling among the scientists who felt the Apollo project was a stunt of little value, the first landing of men on the mion may generate more scientific discoveries than any expedition in history.

The experimental tasks assigned astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. when they step onto the moon early Monday are comparatively simple. Yet they are designed to enlighten some of the most fundamental problems of science. These include:

—Is Einstein's theory of gravity incorrect and is gravity slowly weakening?

—Is the moon a wayward planet captured by the earth, or is it a true daughter of our earth?

—Have early steps towards the evolution of life occurred on the moon and can lunar material explain how those steps occurred on earth?

—Is the moon quiescent or is it shaken by earthquakes and volcanic eruptions?

—Is the moon constructed internally like the earth, with an iron core?

—Are the continents of the earth in motion relative to one another?

—Can subtle wobbles of the earth's spin be used to predict major earthquakes?

—What can the composition of the "solar wind" tell us about the origin of the Solar System?

Soil Most Important

The astronauts' most important task, apart from insuring their own safe return, is to collect specimens of lunar material. First Armstrong will scoop up a two-pound "contingency sample" close to the landing craft.

Some 40 minutes after Armstrong has made his way down the ladder of the lunar module (LM), Aldrin will follow and will remove from an outside storage bin a foot-long tube containing a roll of aluminum foil.

Inside the roll is a telescoped pole that Aldrin will extend and drive into the lunar soil, suspending the foil scroll so that the side marked "sun" faces the sun. This will be left until just before the astronauts leave, facing the thin, but high velocity gas blowing out from the sun — the "solar wind."

Dr. Johannes Geiss of Berne University in Switzerland believes that the composition of this "wind" will throw light on the way in which the sun and planets were formed.

Tongs And Scoop

Armstrong will then set up a folding table and on it will open one of two specimen boxes. Using tongs and a long-handled scoop he will pick up from 30 to 50 pounds of lunar material. This will be the "bulk" sample. The box will be sealed and prepared for hoisting aboard the LM.

Aldrin will then open another bin and remove two units to be left on the moon, carrying them some 30 feet south of the landing site. He will set up a seismic detector while 10 feet away Armstrong sets up a laser-reflecting device.

Aldrin will put out panels on either side of the detecting unit to generate electric power from sunlight so the readings can be radioed to earth. A device will report the accumulation of dust on its surface.

The laser reflector will be used to follow subtle changes in earth-moon distances. It is these changes that may indicate whether gravity is weakening or the continents drifting.

Which Gravity Theory?

Changes in the earth-moon distance may show whether Einstein's general theory of relativity, which treats gravity as an immutable constant, or whether a more recent formulation, the Brans-Dicke theory, is more accurate.

The latter, devised by Dr. Robert H. Dicke of Princeton University and Dr. Carl H. Brans, formerly his graduate student, postulates that, as the universe expands, gravity weakens. This would loosen the earth's hold on the moon and increase the distance between the two.

Finally, precise observation of the moon's response to gravitational tugging by earth and sun should indicate whether it is homogenous internally or has a dense core. The reflector should also make possible very precise measurements of the earth's wobble.

MOON SHOT CRITICIZED

Eldridge Cleaver, onetime Black Panther leader who slipped out of the United States last year and has been living in Cuba, said in Algiers Thursday the Apollo 11 moon shot is a "circus to distract people's minds from the real problems, which are here on the ground." Cleaver is attending the Pan-African Cultural Festival as a guest of the Algerian government.

Five Dead Spacemen's Medals Going To Moon

Space Center, Houston (AP) — Space agency officials said Thursday the plan to have Apollo 11 leave medals for two dead Soviet cosmonauts on the moon is a symbol "of the feeling of comradeship all pilots have for one another."

The medals are to be placed on the moon alongside a patch representing America's three Apollo 1 astronauts who died in a spacecraft fire.

The act "more importantly honors five men who made great contributions toward the success of this mission," said Julian Sheer, NASA assistant administrator for public affairs.

Allowing the medals to be taken aboard a U.S. moonship was also viewed as a possible sign of increased willingness on the part of the Soviet Union to cooperate with the United States in the future exploration of space.

President Nixon revealed Thursday the golden medals honoring Soviet cosmonauts Yuri A. Gagarin and Vladimir Komarov had been given to astronaut Frank Borman by the cosmonauts' widows during Borman's recent trip to Russia.

Sources said Borman, while in Moscow, had told his hosts that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was willing to send some memento along with Apollo 11 astronauts Neil S. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins if Soviet authorities and the cosmonauts thought it appropriate

Grissom, White, Chaffee

Going along with the cosmonaut medals are a patch and three medals representing Apollo 1 astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White Jr. and Roger B. Chaffee who perished in their spaceship during a launch pad fire Jan. 27, 1967.

The three Apollo 1 medals will be returned to earth and presented to the astronauts' widows.

Gagarin, the first man in space, was killed March 27, 1968, in a jet plane crash. Komarov was killed April 27, 1967, in a spacecraft landing.

Honduras-Salvador Truce Collapses

World News

By The Associated Press

An announced truce in the Central American war collapsed Thursday. El Salvador reported its troops opened a third front in Honduras, and Honduras sent planes into action again.

A Honduran official had reported an agreement on a temporary cease-fire while a committee of the Organization of American States (OAS) sought to end Latin-(OAS) sought to end Latin-America's first war in more than 30 years.

Cease-fire talk apparently met little response in El Salvador where initial military successes touched off cries for a push "all the way to the Atlantic."

The Caribbean arm of Atlantic Ocean is on the north coast of Honduras, more than 100 miles from San Salvador, which is on the Pacific side of Central America. Honduras has both Carribbean and Pacific coasts.

The war broke out Monday after years of tension and a violent soccer rivalry.

A Honduran spokesman in Tegucigalpa said Salvadorean artillery had broken a six-hour cease-fire in the southeastern front near El Amatillo and that nine Honduran planes had then bombed Salvadoran positions.

The Salvador command said the third front was in the Lempira department of Honduras, where four towns were reported captured. The new scene of fighting was midway between the battle zone of Nueva Ocotopeque and El Amatillo on the Pan American Highway.

Tax Bill Passed

Washington (UPI) — The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill that would permit states to tax national banks.

Surtax Gets Committee Approval

Washington (AP) — Nixon administration forces won Senate Finance Committee approval Thursday of a bill to extend the income surtax another year.

The measure, which President Nixon says is urgently needed to help curb inflation, now goes to the Senate floor. However, Democratic leaders may sidetrack it there to await the arrival of general tax reform legislation.

The Finance Committee voted 9 to 8 to approve the surtax extender in the same form it passed the House. Thus if it is called up in the Senate and passed without floor amendments, it could go directly to the White House without further congressional action.

Camp Staffers Include Honeymooning Wilsons

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Humboldt — Would you believe . . . a bride who spends her first summer cooking for a staff of 24 men?

Or how about this? Honeymooning in a tent for eight weeks at the mercy of mosquitoes as well as 1,200 teasing Boy Scouts.

Such is the life these days for newlyweds Larry and Joann Wilson — and they love it. It all came about when hubby agreed to be program director for Cornhusker Council Reservation.

"We were married in December and there was too much snow for a honeymoon trip, so we just stayed in Lincoln," said Jo, campfire sparks shooting from her brown eyes. "Both of us enjoy the outdoors, so what better way to spend the summer?"

The cooking stint is a switch indeed from the young bride's math teaching last semester at Pound Junior High in Lincoln. Larry meanwhile was completing a University of Nebraska bachelor's degree in preparation for medical school this fall.

Camp 'Medic'

An Eagle rank and interest in first aid naturally won him the role of camp doctor for emergencies such as sunburn, chiggers and — every scout knows it has three leaves — poison ivy. Upset stomach is the most common malady.

"We get plenty of homesickness, too, and for that I usually prescribe Bill Jenks," said Larry, 22, the same age as his wife. "He graduated from Doane this spring and is headed for seminary, but for now he is our much-needed chaplain."

The Wilsons were schoolmates at Utica High while Larry's superintendent father, George W., was organizing the new Centennial High School. Joann was a Geiger before changing her name — and is a farmer's daughter whose only mass cooking experience was at haytime.

Two things she and assistant Bruce Ramsour of Beatrice already have learned in their ever-steaming kitchen. Sauerkraut is not a staff favorite and "to serve 24 scouters, you'd best cook for 48."

Camping has interfered with Larry's jumps as a member of the Lincoln Parachuting Club, but it's given his wife "more reading time than I've had for ages." Even with all the insignia patches she has sewn onto staffers' uniforms.

First Woman

Joann is believed to be the only woman resident in the 10-year history of the reservation. Though this poses some problems, it also brings privilege.

"Just think," she said winkingly, "over all these 880 acres and among some 1,200 campers for the summer, I'm the only person with my own private bathroom."

2 Sought For Robbery At Regler Dairy Store

Two men, one armed with a knife, were being sought by Lincoln police Thursday evening on suspicion of robbing the Regler Dairy Store of approximately $100 earlier.

According to the store attendant, Dewey Regler, 540 No. 27th, the two men walked into the store and purchased some items then "stalled until the other customers left."

At that time, one of the men pulled a knife with a long blade, pointed it at Regler and demanded the money from the cash register.

Once they had the money, the two men ran from the store and passed some customers on the way in.

Lincoln police said they had "pretty good descriptions" of the two armed bandits an were following several "leads" late Thursday night.

Regler, the operator of the store, said he had only a rough idea of how much the bandits escaped with and placed that figure at "about $100."

Reform Of Tax System Is Favored

By JOHN ARMSTRONG
Associated Press Writer

Nebraska's congressional delegation is convinced low and middle income earners aren't getting a fair shake from the federal income tax laws.

Members of the delegation want wholesale reform of the tax system, with particular attention given to the tax status of private foundations, the wealthy, the poor and the elderly.

"Only through a comprehensive reform will we be able to achieve equity and restore full confidence in the tax system," said Sen. Roman L. Hruska.

"A system which permits a few of our more wealthy citizens to pay little or no taxes is not equitable."

Rep. Dave Martin said he wants to "plug all the loopholes" that have developed over the years.

Denney Agrees

Rep. Robert V. Denney said he agrees with the complaint that the tax system "penalizes the middle and low income earners while allowiing millionaires to go tax free."

And Rep. Glenn Cunningham said "piecemeal changes are no longer satisfactory. We need complete recodification of the tax laws."

Sen. Carl T. Curtis agreed with the need for reform, but added:

"I do caution against acceptance of the notion that some magic tax reform could be enacted that would provide the spenders with all the money they want and at the same time lessen the burdens for the rank and file of taxpayers."

A law taxing individual incomes above $100,000 a year at a rate of 100% would raise only $400 million, or about one half of one per cent of the total federal revenue, said the senator.

"The people in the low income brackets and individuals in the modest brackets or middle-class brackets pay the most taxes because there are more individuals in such circumstances," Curtis said.

Competition

They said churches, religious groups, charitable organizations and private foundations should pay taxes on all income received through "any commercial transaction in direct competition with tax-paying businesses."

Cunningham said "the great majority" of private foundations are "simply vehicles for evading taxes." He said there should be a complete investigation of the income of foundations and church and religious groups.

"If a church owns properties and investments and makes a profit from them, it should pay taxes just like everybody else," he said.

Denney noted that churches are hard pressed to raise money, so he recommended a reasonable limitation on the amount of taxes required of truly religious, nonprofit or charitable organizations.

The five Republican lawmakers proposed a number of specific changes in the tax laws to help the average American.

Martin said he would like the income deduction for each dependent hiked from $600 to $1,200 and Denney proposed that it be increased to $1,000. Cunningham also backed a larger dependent allowance and proposed that retired persons living on fixed incomes be removed completely from the tax rolls.

Martin suggested that parents be given an additional $1,000 deduction for each child in school, while Denney recommended that all costs of schooling be exempt from taxation.

Budget Adopted

Albion (UPI) — The Albion Board of Education has adopted an estimated budget of $597,650 for the 1969-70 term. Per capita cost per pupil in high school is $818 and in grade school amounts to $470.

Extended Forecasts

NEBRASKA: Temperatures for the five-day period, Saturday through Wednesday, will average 2 to 4 degrees below normal with only minor day to day changes. Normal lows are in the 60s and normal highs are in the upper 80s to low 90s. Rainfall will average .30 to .50 of an inch in the west and .60 to .80 of an inch in the east occurring as occasional showers or thunderstorms.

KANSAS: For the five-day period, Saturday through Wednesday, temperatures will average near normal with only minor day to day changes. Normal lows are in the low to mid 60s in the west to about 70 in the southeast. Normal highs are in the low 90s. Rainfall will average .30 to .60 of an inch occurring as occasional scattered showers or thunderstorms mostly Tuesday and Wednesday.

Summary Of Conditions

The latest surface map shows a semi-stationary front on line from northern Ohio westward through northern Missouri, extreme northern Kansas and into central Colorado. By noon Friday, the front will be slightly more northward into northern Colorado, southern Nebraska, central Illinois and eastward with weak waves of low pressure moving along the front.

This low pressure moving along the front will set off a few periods of showers or thunderstorms in Nebraska through Saturday; however, these will tend to occur mostly afternoons and evenings and will be slightly more numerous Friday afternoon and night. Cloudiness will be considerable to variable through the period and temperatures will show no large changes, but are expected to be warmer locally in portions of eastern Nebraska Friday.

$1 Million Eppley Grant To Creighton

Omaha (AP) — The Eugene C. Eppley Foundation Thursday announced a grant of $1 million to Creighton University and Creighton Memorial St. Joseph Hospital.

Arthur C. Storz Sr., member of the board of directors of the Eppley Foundation, said the grant was being made to "assist and encourage" the replacement of the present St. Joseph Hospital in Omaha with a new 500-bed regional teaching hospital and health care center.

A. F. Jacobson, chairman of the Creighton University Board of Directors, said plans to replace the present hospital, the core of which was constructed in 1892, have been under study for some time.

According to Jacobson, tentative plans call for a new hospital to be constructed on the Creighton campus, although a specific site has not been selected.

Sioux City Man's Body Discovered In Crystal Lake

South Sioux City (AP) — The body of 25-year-old Terry Ross of Sioux City was discovered about 200 feet from shore in the west end of Crystal Lake near here early Thursday, Dakota County Sheriff Allan Bligh reported. It was in four feet of water.

Blight said he received a call about 4 a.m. saying that three swimmers had found the body.

Bligh said the death resulted from drowning and the body had been in the lake for several hours.

The sheriff said it was reported that Ross had left his home about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday with a group going swimming, and did not return either Tuesday or Wednesday nights.

Heavy Omaha Rains Cause Damage To 2 Warehouses

Torrential rains in Omaha early Thursday caused two warehouse roofs to collapse and caused some concern of flooding on the Little Papio Creek in the western section of town.

Nebraska News

The roofs collapsed at the Hested Stores warehouse and the Sears Roebuck and Co. warehouse. Hested warehouse manager Edward Romine said the Hested structure would be closed indefinitely for repairs. Damage was considerable at Sears, but operations will continue while repairs are made, according to warehouse manager Vern Kellogg.

Little Papio Up

The Little Papio rose rapidly during heavy rains Thursday morning, but crest stages all remained below bankful as the crest went down stream.

Omaha reported 2.35 inches of rain but precipitation in the outer parts of town ranged up to 3.80 at 132nd and Fort Sts. Keystone, a town near northwestern Omaha, reported 3.50 inches and Boys Town had 2.68.

An area about eight miles north of Broken Bow had an unofficial total of 3.50 inches, and two miles northeast of Broken Bow a barn was blown down.

A tornado touched down on the Bud Boag farm 10 miles west of Burwell Wednesday night, uprooting several big trees, blowing away a small building and damaging the barn and farmhouse.

The family heard the storm coming and took shelter. Damage to the house was caused by a tree falling on it.

About two inches of rain was reported in the storm there.

RAINS PELT SOUTHEAST

Heavy rains and strong winds hit scattered parts of southeast Nebraska Thursday night.

The Weather Bureau office at Lincoln received a report by telephone that Hebron had received 3.57 inches of rain by 11 p.m.

Saline County Sheriff John Svehla at Wilber told The Star that community received a two-hour rainstorm totaling some 1.75 inches. He said there was some strong winds and "the lights went out for a while.

Other scattered showers were reported over much of the southeast portion of the state.

Douglas Co. Hopes To Prove Valuations

Omaha (AP) — Douglas County Commissioner John Y. McCollister says he hopes the county can show the state tax commissioner's office at a hearing July 25 that the county property tax valuations are correct.

"We just spent $750,000 at the order of the legislature to produce a complete reappraisal of all real estate in Douglas County," McCollister said.

"The state tax commissioner approved the job, and we began to put into effect all the new regulations over a loud protest and many complaints, inequities and adjustments," he continued.

"Then just a short time later, along comes the state tax commissioner saying, in effect, that the job which they approved and on which we spent a bundle wasn't right. And now they say that the valuations in urban Douglas County are 10% too low and in rural agricultural lands are 40% too low," he said.

"It is just incredible to me that this could be the case," he said. "It's to my way of thinking an improper action."

Tulsa Publisher NACI Speaker

Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor and publisher of the Tulsa Tribune and president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, will appear on the annual meeting program of the Nebraska Association of Commerce & Industry (NACI) in Omaha Oct. 14.

Glenn J. Mc Eniry, NACI executive vice president, said Jones will speak at noon in the Peony Park ballroom at a public affairs luncheon co-sponsored by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

EVENTS IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

More and more, the spotlight of national politics is shifting from Vietnam to the U.S. economy. Both issues are equally unpredictable and both are vitally important to the future of the nation.

Vietnam is not over for us, of course, but there seems to be a growing feeling of confidence. Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird has contributed a great deal to this with his statement that recent U.S. troop withdrawals have meant "the corner has been turned" in Vietnam.

Just what Laird meant by this is now the subject of considerable speculation in Congress but it has definitely fed the fires of optimism on this subject. That, in turn, has contributed to increased interest in the state of the economy.

The economy, it can be said without much fear of contradiction, is in a confused state. It seems that no one really knows what is happening or why. With interest rates already at an all-time high of 8½ per cent, predictions that they will go higher are now common.

While the administration denies any thought of it, wage and price controls are receiving more and more talk. While private spending has declined in some areas, there continues to be a solid demand in the market place for the hard goods of industry.

In Congress, the fate of the 10 per cent surtax continues to be in doubt. The Senate seems determined to pass any extension of the tax at least until after its August recess. Even then, the issue could get hung up on the question of tax reforms.

We wonder if those who make the policies of government in economic affairs really know what they are doing. We do not pretend to be economic experts ourselves but a lot of obvious things never seem to get any consideration.

★

Not a thing is ever said about the ease of credit, for instance, and this just has to be a major contribution to inflation. When people can buy all sorts of hard goods, up to expensive automobiles, with little or nothing down, the tendency to buy is overpowering.

Nor does anyone seem to give any thought to the fact that ours is a constantly expanding population. Another iem we never talk about is the growth of our productivity.

All of these things are major contributors to the economy. They are all factors which expand the economy and thereby encourage inflation. We would not attempt to suggest an answer to these things but we do think they ought to be a part of the overall picture.

Instead, we concentrate on taxes and government spending, both of which need to be carried almost to extreme before they have any effect upon things. And both of them, in a time of curtailment, constitute a liability to the nation from a sociological point of view.

We very probably need in this nation restrictions on the use of credit and we certainly need a better understanding on the effects of population growth and increased productivity on the economy as a whole. We ought to scratch below the surface of rising interest rates and examine the tax system in terms of both equity and its impact upon the private sector.

But we do none of these things. Rather, we go along with popularly and politically espoused remedies that, to date, have not accomplished their objective and raise the fear of recession if they do accomplish anything.

There is in the federal government a department of economic advisers to the President but they never seem to come up with anything new. They still seem to think in terms of the economy as it existed in the horse-and-buggy days.

It is ridiculous for a nation as sophisticated as the United States to go stumbling along with policies and concepts that leave us constantly on the brink of economic disaster.

Interesting Details Of The Moon Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — Here are some things you may not know about the flight to the moon:

The astronauts' space suits are so stiff that they won't be able to bend over to pick up lunar rocks. They will have to use a shovel . . . Crew members remove their space suits for more comfortable flight overalls shortly after entering the Apollo 11. At all times they wear a harness which is wired to signal the physical condition of each astronaut to the space center in Houston. The space suits must be worn when Neil Armstrong and Col. Edwin E. Aldrin step out on the moon. They are airtight to keep the body from exploding in the rarefied atmosphere of the moon.

The command module has more than two million functional parts, not counting wires, compared with less than 3,000 functional parts in an automobile . . . It uses only about 2,000 watts of electricity, the same amount required by an electric oven . . . It has slightly more cubic feet of space per man—73—than the per person space in a compact car—68 cubic feet . . . There are 15 miles of wire in the Apollo spacecraft, enough to wire 50 two-bedroom houses . . . Should the command module collide with a piece of outer space waste and be punctured with a hole one inch in diameter, it could maintain pressure 15 minutes—long enough for an astronaut to put on a space suit . . . The chances of colliding with a meteoroid are computed as one in 1,230 . . . On the panel of the command module, there are 24 instruments, 566 switches and 71 lights . . .

There were 5,625,000 pounds of propellant in the Saturn V, the service module and the lunar module when the Apollo was first lifted off the ground . . . The tanks on the first stage propellant are large enough to accommodate three large moving vans side by side . . . Enough liquid oxygen was in the first stage tank to fill 54 railroad tank cars . . .The five F-1 engines on the Apollo equal 160 million horsepower, which is about double the hydroelectric power available if all the rivers and streams of North America were channeled through turbines . . . There are 50 engines aboard the Apollo to boost the lunar module when it leaves the command module, also to boost it off the surface of the moon . . . Tanks which hold the ultra-cold liquid oxygen on the Apollo are probably the only leak-free vessels ever built. If an automobile tire leaked at the same rate that these tanks do, it would take the tire 32,000,000 years to go flat . . . There are two and a half million solder joints in a Saturn V launch vehicle. If 1/32 of an inch too much wire were left in each of these joints, plus an extra drop of solder, the excess weight would be equivalent to the payload of the vehicle . . . The Apollo command and service modules have 587,500 inspection points which had to be checked out before the launch.

The astronauts eat a balanced diet of 2,500 calories a day. The food is in vacuum-packed plastic bags, and the bags have red, white and blue dots to identify them for each crewman . . . Each "couch" is built to conform to the size of the astronaut using it. The couches are equipped with a lap belt and two shoulder straps to keep the astronauts from floating off into another part of the module.

Open Housing Approved

The State of Nebraska now officially recognizes the right to open housing, due to passage of LB718 by the Legislature Thursday and the expected signature of Gov. Tiemann.

Approval of the statewide open housing bill represents one of the more significant and welcome achievements of the legislative session to date. It won 38 votes, more than enough for the emergency clause and only Sens. Clifton Batchelder, Bill Bloom and George Syas, all of Omaha, and William Wylie of Elgin, C. W. Holmquist of Oakland and Robert Clark of Sidney voted in the negative.

The bill offers only one major exemption from its provisions — it does not apply to persons who rent not more than four sleeping rooms in their own homes — and in this it is stronger than the federal law which applies in stages over a period of years.

Although a state agency will now be able to handle complaints about discrimination in the sale or rental of housing and press for relief through the courts, that agency, the Equal Opportunity Commission, is encouraged by provisions of the law to seek voluntary, out-of-court solutions in instances where housing is denied to people on a discriminatory basis.

The law is just, reasonable and conciliatory, but it has teeth in it. What the law says, however, is equalled in importance, in our eyes, by the attitude expressed by a majority of our legislators who passed it and the variety of interests —realtors included — who helped put the law together. The Legislature could have used the federal law as a guideline, but it didn't; it passed a stronger law in the interest of fairness. And finally, LB718 puts into the statutes in stronger terms the anti-discrimination proviso written into the State Constitution.

What Is Reasonable

In general, it is well that the Legislature has seen fit to revive the controversial highway standards act. This act would establish a board whose responsibility it was to determine standards for all city, county and state street and highway improvements. Also, it would be a prime force in the determination of construction priorities.

The whole program is pegged to the idea of reasonable standards and nobody should argue with that. The only trouble is that not everyone agrees on what is reasonable. It is reasonable, for instance, to prescribe a proper width, one that will meet the requirements of the traffic load.

It is reasonable to establish paving thickness limits so that an improvement is not ruined before its normal life expectancy. And it is reasonable to do those things first which are of greatest need, rather than bowing to special interest and political influence.

But some things are not so reasonable. This includes the excessive use of traffic signal lights and medians or street dividers. There are times when medians are actually contributing to traffic flow difficulties or when they at least are of no traffic flow benefit.

There are times when the use of traffic lights has become ridiculous — so many lights that the motorist cannot even determine what to do. This is particularly galling when you consider the thousands of dollars spent on a traffic light. A standards committee is commendable but only if it adopts what are reasonable standards.

One Of The Hopeful Tendencies Of History Shows Big Powers Respecting Each Other

NEW YORK — In the larger perspectives of history, the central fact today is that the United States, the Soviet Union, and communist China are now concentrating on their internal problems and restraining their tendencies to provoke one another.

Vietnam is not everything or even the main thing. These three giant nuclear powers are still very much concerned with the security of their geographical areas and are determined to dominate the regions in which they exist, but they are no longer acting — though they are often talking — as if the old ideological struggle between the communist East and the noncommunist West were the major threat to their existence.

Washington, preoccupied with its racial and economic problems at home, is withdrawing from the Vietnam war. Moscow is more alarmed by the threat of democracy in Czechoslovakia and Romania and of militant nationalism in China than it is with its old fear of a military attack by Germany and the U.S. China is directing its most vicious propaganda attacks and even its military adventures against the Soviets on its northern border rather than against the Americans and the Vietnamese on its southern border.

In the shorter perspectives of human conflict, of course, the outlook is much more ominous. The news from Vietnam, from the Middle East and from Nigeria is tragic, and since it dominates the newspaper headlines and the television screens, it alarms and depresses the public mind, but the tendencies of history among the nations that have the power to wage a world war are more important than the newspaper headlines of clashes within and between the smaller powers, and these larger tendencies toward accommodation — or to put it more accurately, toward the avoidance of military confrontation between the big powers—are reassuring.

These tendencies are not going to justify the hopes of the political ninnies who dream of instant nirvana, for the differences between the big powers about individual and national life are as great as they ever were. But something important has happened. The major powers have apparently decided that, no matter how they disagree on ideology or philosophy, they should avoid a nuclear big power war, and not allow conflicts between the smaller factions or nations in Vietnam or the Middle East or Africa to drag them into it.

On the side, of course, the big powers fence with each other and say and do all kinds of silly things. Moscow backs North Vietnam and Washington, South Vietnam. President Nixon goes to Romania to show his interest, if not support, for an Eastern European communist government which is more interested in getting freedom from Moscow than in giving freedom to its own people, and Moscow retaliates by sending a naval fleet to Cuba, but these are propaganda games which will be forgotten by Labor Day.

They make news but they don't make history. The politicians in Romania will use Nixon's visit for their own tactical purposes, and the politicians in Havana will use the Soviet fleet in the same way, but geography and power will tell in the end both places. Washington will not back Bucharest in a test of strength with the Soviet Union, and Moscow will not back Havana in a test of strength with the U.S., for this would mean war between the American and Russian peoples, and this is the one thing, whatever their other differences, Washington and Moscow are determined to avoid.

For, no matter how they separate on ideology and ambition, they have some things in common. They want to live. They don't want to lose their dominant positions in the world.

The Spirit Goes Upward

NEW YORK — What is to be said, by those of us who remain behind, as man's instruments and representatives move through the void toward his first break from the earth that has so long sustained him?

"Who knoweth the spirit of man that goeth upward, and the spirit of the beast that goeth downward to the earth?"

One could hardly watch the magnificent spectacle of the liftoff, let alone contemplate the feats of human ingenuity that made it possible, as well as the courage and skill of the fliers, without some reflection upon the meaning of this event — one of the greater order of importance than any other exploration undertaken by the race. Yet, what so many millions of Americans watched from Cape Kennedy and what presumably they will see next weekend defy rational analysis.

One might speak practically of scientific knowledge and the development of sophisticated industries; but that, like Ralph Abernathy's demonstrators, raises delicate questions of priorities. On a practical basis alone, Apollo 11 is merely a dubious venture.

The temptation is strong to fall back upon lyricism. The poetry of the thing has yet find its expression in any of the earnest, proficient Americans who have ventured away from the earth; yet, the stunning beauty of man's most marvelous creation as it rose in its majesty toward the unknown, toward the future, could be matched only by the profound sense of having been present at an end to something, and therefore necessarily at a beginning.

It would be almost as easy, nonetheless, to be cynical. After all, nothing like as much thought and energy and money has been put into rectifying any of our earthy deficiencies as has gone into the space program; in fact, in our time, to what other projects have Americans given so great a concentration of money, knowledge, attention and authority? To atomic and nuclear weapons, and perhaps to the Interstate highway program.

But still, as Sen. Edmund Muskie suggested in a thoughtful television comment from the launching site, the gap between what has been accomplished in space and what remains to be done on earth may yet serve as inspiration. The superb achievements of the Apollo and its predecessor programs, even if something unforeseen bars their fruition next weekend, demonstrate what man can achieve when he puts his mind and will to work; in that sense, Apollo gives hope for the society of man.

Perhaps one should even go beyond man and the earth as we know them; in the presence of this too long reach into new realms, perhaps it is simply too limiting to try to cast the event into comprehensive human terms. As when the organism that became man first emerged from the ooze, perhaps now the organism that is man steps from its narrow old environment into different surroundings and conditions, unimaginable because they have yet to be shaped in the eternal evolution of life. And that in its turn would mean that this day the first move has been made towards new forms for that life.

Man has been taught that "One generation passeth away and another generation cometh: but the earth abideth forever . . . and there is no new thing under the sun." But what makes this event so difficult to grasp or describe is that Apollo and its riders ARE seeking something new under the sun, and if for the first time in history they find it, no one can say what the consequences will be for mankind — what this ending may mean, what this beginning may promise.

Surely that is meaning enough for today. Even if we cannot know what comes next, or even what may be finished, we can sense as seldom before life going on, the process continuing, man struggled toward a new order of things. And that is all the glory he may ever claim.

"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest.

"I returned, and saw under the sun, that the race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, neither yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of understanding, nor yet favour to men of skill; but time and chance happeneth to them all."

And so man goes on, toward the moon and the grave, in the spirit that goeth upward and the spirit that goeth downward to the earth.

Which Side?

Lincoln, Neb.

In a recent issue, readers were confronted by a long advertisement wherein John E. Mekota of Crete demands that changes be made in the teaching of government and citizenship in our schools. He demands "a practical and adequate course for study and teaching," and deplores the "appalling indifference among Americans." He may be correct; we cannot tell. For beyond asking for a course of study that "makes sense," he does not state what changes he would propose.

But speaking of "rational limitations and revisions in the college curricula," he suggests that legislators must do something to prevent a revolution. This brought a number of readers to their feet, with eyes wide open. They have had a recent experience with legislators, and this new suggestion brings up many questions. This is what has happened recently: Lincolnites have fought a long, hard battle to retain the right guaranteed to them by their Constitution — the right to own property, to sell it when the owner is willing at a price to which he agrees; right to life, liberty and privacy within his own home; right to control his property, to make improvements only if he desires them and can afford them — these and others. They learned that both urban renewal and minimum housing standards are from dictators; they are not constitutional.

The vote on urban renewal was taken May 15, 1962. It was defeated by Lincoln voters with a vote of 19 against vs. 8 for. In 1967 the Minimum Standards Housing Ordinance came to vote. The voters defeated it by 20,888 against vs. 7,993 for. But in 1969, the Legislature passed a law — without a vote of the people — permitting the City Council to organize urban renewal projects and applying Minimum Standards Housing Ordinance ruling to secure federal money. The governor was implored to veto the bill, but he signed it.

Now the people are asking fearfully whether our legislators represent those who elected them, or a group is against America and its Constitution. They are asking, on which side of this important question is Mr. Mekota of Crete?

Tax Bite

Lincoln, Neb.

I think it would be a good idea if our Legislature would go home and forget it. Seems all they are doing and all they think of is how to spend more money, and the way to raise that money, they figure, is from additional taxes. They don't add those taxes on where it will hurt them or the people with money using the fine new facilities.

Then comes an extra raise in pay for them, and raises for all state, county and city officials. And one million after another for the university. All that goes on there any more is a good time and trouble. It used to be that those who wanted an education managed to get it and the price was within the range of a few poor people's children, too.

The sales tax hit the people with money the hardest because they had to pay more tax on the expensive things they buy, so that was cut, and now they want to add it to the gas tax where we poor people who have to drive to work will be hit the hardest.

It's about time they put the sales tax back and tax the luxuries more, and cut their spending. My wages haven't been doubled.

Action On Police Pay Hikes For College Credits Tabled

The question of police salary boosts based upon completed college credits and length of service was again discussed and subsequently tabled Thursday by the City Personnel Board.

Ben Goble, coordinator of police and community relations, told the board that the local Lincoln force faces a situation in which they "cannot compete" with industry in hiring college graduates.

He also maintained that with more and more young people going to college, the city must "close the gap" in regards to what he termed the "dumb cop image" which hinders officers in dealings with the phblic.

"It's a question of "keeping up or getting ahead," Goble said. "We can't do either under our present setup."

City Personnel Director Walt Mitchell raised several questions regarding what he felt was the lack of a "clear-cut pattern" to the police department's request.

The addition of college credit and longevity pay steps to the current schedule would make for a salary system which could result in long time officers earning less than a new force member fresh out of college, he said.

Mitchell cited several such possibilities which could arise if the board were to approve the request by police for an additional 5% increase in pay for each 30 hours of college credit hours up to 90 hours.

The proposed pay hike would include a 20% increase for a bachelor's degree and an additional 10% added to the salary of an officer with a master's degree. The department also proposed that a credit of five college credit hours be added for each full year of active military service.

In addition to the internal problems which Mitchell said could arise from a revised schedule, board members also questioned whether a college education would necessarily improve the quality of police officers.

Mitchell said he personally favored an educational program which was geared towards training in skills directly related to law enforcement work.

He mentioned that a two-year law enforcement course will be initiated this fall at the University of Nebraska.

NU Expansion Includes Play Areas, Walkways

Expansion of the University of Nebraska will include some small progress in recreation areas and pedestrian walkways next fall as well as parking lots and buildings.

The one-block section of S St. between 14th and 15th which the city vacated last month will be blocked off for pedestrian use exclusively, NU officials reported.

The street eventually will be a part of the main pedestrian spine throughout the campus accessible only to emergency vehicles.

The street is one of the main student thoroughfares between university living units and academic buildings.

Property acquired by NU east of 17th on the north side of Vine will be a large enough area to provide an intramural playing field for NU students by the opening of the fall semester, according to Business Manager Carl Donaldson.

Other small property acquisitions in the Malone community east of the downtown campus have generally been used as neighborhood parks rather than for university purposes after the existing buildings are razed and grass is planted, NU officials reported.

The city park and recreation department established a playground at an NU site at 19th and U Sts. The Lincoln Action Program also has requested permission to use some land, probably north of Vine St. for another neighborhood playground.

Three houses purchased by NU on S St. east of 19th were turned over rent free to the Lincoln Action Program more than a year ago for offices of the anti-poverty agency.

Classrooms At New School Hoped Ready By September

Classrooms in the new Goodrich Junior High School in Belmont are expected to be ready for use Sept. 1 although the cafeteria, gymnasium and other special rooms may not be finished for another month, Supt. John Prasch reported Thursday.

The general contractor, Cook Construction Co., has informed school officials that the classroom section of the new building can be ready in time for the opening day of school, Prasch said.

The school district, which has all supplies and equipment ordered and staff hired for the building, will make no alternate plans for transferring the students elsewhere due to the "optimistic projection," he said.

Classrooms Priority

The construction crew has been asked to concentrate its work on the classroom section, he indicated.

Some 402 students, including 92 sixth graders, are registered to attend the new school. The building has a capacity of about 660.

Depending on the progress of construction in the kitchen and lunchroom, the school may have to rely on other kinds of food service at the beginning, it was pointed out.

May Bring Food

Food may be brought in if serving areas are finished or students may have to bring their own lunches.

The gym is scheduled to be the last facility completed. The library is expected to be ready to use as soon as the classrooms.

A "long list" of changes were made in the building after construction started in order to meet requests of the state fire marshal's office, according to Prasch.

Some of the major changes required included installing knock-out panels in exterior walls, additional outside exits in a few classrooms in the shop area and different glass in hall walls.

More Youth Representation Urged

A proposal for greater youth representation in determining recreational programs was presented to the City Park and Recreation Advisory Board Thursday.

Mark Wright, a student representative on the advisory board, presented two alternative plans which would set up "an organized and effective form of youth representation."

Wright said the youth representative board could make suggestions about recreational programs that would interest the youth of Lincoln.

Board members, agreeing that youth involvement would be highly desirable, decided to pursue the matter further.

2 Proposals Made

Wright proposed that either a youth recreation board be created, to consist of representatives from all Lincoln high schools, or that the entire matter of recreational needs be turned over to the present Inter-City Student Council.

A meeting is being planned for youths to suggest how they would like a youth recreation board to be organized.

The board decided that members of the Inter-City Student Council, Lincoln Council of Youths and Keentime Kouncil should be present.

Wright said an organized youth representation would "open up a whole new channel through which the city could sponsor an ever-widening range of youth activities and entirely new programs."

The board also voted against building an Indian prayer circle to honor Dr. John Neihardt, poet laureate of Nebraska, because the idea is not new and would cause maintenance problems.

The Northeast Kiwanis Club had suggested the idea and said it would pay for construction costs if the city agreed to pay for the maintenance.

Board members said they were very appreciative of the concern by the civic group for the project.

Dick Leker, new superintendent of recreation, was introduced to board members at the meeting.

Parole Board Change Advances

The Legislature Thursday handed overwhelming 30-1 initial floor endorsement to major legislation establishing a new Parole Board and enacting a comprehensive code for correction and treatment of criminal offenders.

Sponsored by Sen. John Knight of Lincoln, at the request of Gov. Norbert Tiemann, LB1307 would, in part, implement a constitutional amendment authorizing reorganization of the Board of Paroles and Pardons.

That board is now composed of the governor, the attorney general and the secretary of state.

Under the terms of LB1307, those three constitutional officers would continue to act as a Board of Pardons.

A new Board of Paroles would be composed of three persons appointed by the governor and subject to legislative confirmation. A new Office of Parole Administration would be created to improve parole supervision.

The bill also creates within the Department of Public Institutions a new Division of Corrections to administer the correction and treatment of criminal offenders at state institutions, chiefly the Penal Complex.

Knight said he hopes the proposal will pave the way for improvement of institutional rehabilitation programs.

But those improvements can be developed only through "the appropriation process," he noted. LB1307 itself would only provide the vehicle for improvement, Knight said.

With only Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha dissenting, the bill cleared the first of three floor stages without debate.

Solons Advance 3 Road Bills

Three more highway study bills, including a proposal which would establish an examining board to license city street and county highway superintendents, received legislative endorsement Thursday.

None of the measures clearing first stage floor debate attracted a dissenting vote.

LB1298, the licensing bill, is designed to "improve management operations" in the expenditure of highway user funds at the city and county level, Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly said.

The bill creates a seven-member examining board, composed of four county and three city representatives.

Cities and counties which employ licensed superintendents would be eligible for additional highway user allocations in the form of incentive payments.

Present city and county superintendents would be accorded a five-year waiting period before they need to be licensed.

LB1298 gained 30-0 advancement.

Also approved on first reading:

—LB1296, establishing a Nebraska Transportation Advisory Committee, composed of five senators, to evaluate highway needs between legislative sessions and recommend future legislation, 34-0.

—LB949, changing the state engineer's title to director-state engineer, revising his duties and altering organization of the Department of Roads, 31-0.

Effort Launched To Kill Plan For Sentence Review

An effort was launched in the Legislature Thursday to kill a bill which would create a three-member review board of district judges to review the sentences of convicted criminals who believe they were sentenced excessively.

Debate on LB1216, sponsored by Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha, was pending when lawmakers adjourned for the day.

Pedersen said the new board would eliminate a source of conflict at the state prison where convicts compare notes and find that one drew a certain sentence for a certain crime, and another drew a much lesser sentence for the same crime under similar circumstances.

Greater uniformity of sentences would result, he said.

Sen. William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha moved to kill the bill on grounds most district judges don't want it. His kill motion was pending at adjournment.

Skarda and others noted that criminals already can appeal their sentences to the State Supreme Court or to the State Board of Pardons.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha, concurring in the kill move, said "we have babied these criminals long enough."

Unicam Rejects District Judge For Hall County

Nebraska's Legislature had a last minute change of heart Thursday and removed from a pending bill a provision increasing from one to two the number of district judges in Hall County.

The reversal came as the measure, LB916, showed up for final reading in a form which adds one judge to the 11th District (Hall County) and increases from nine to 11 the number of judges in Douglas County, District No. 4.

Sen. Wayne Schreurs of Seward moved to return the bill to select file for an amendment eliminating the Hall County provision.

With 25 approving votes needed, the Schreurs motion carried without a vote to spare, 25-11.

On select file, however, the Schreurs amendment got only a 20-7 approving vote in its first test, with 25 needed. Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha then moved for reconsideration. Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway, who had spearheaded the fight for the additional Hall County judge, threw in the towel at this point and the Schreurs amendment was approved 37-0.

The amended bill will show up for final reading later.

The three senators who represent parts of Hall County — Don Elrod of Grand Island, Maurice Kremer of Aurora and Leslie Robinson of Kearney all opposed adding the judge.

Man Charged In 1963 Gun Store Armed Robbery

A man who recently completed a prison term for a bank robbery in Canada, was arraigned Thursday in Lancaster County Court and charged with the May 17, 1963, armed robbery of a Lincoln gun shop.

A preliminary hearing for the man, Melvin George Brown, was scheduled for August 1. Bond was set at $8,000.

Police said Brown and a companion, Donald E. Cotham, were captured following a bank robbery and gun battle in Cooksville, Ontario, Canada, about a week after the Lincoln robbery.

Math Instruction Workshop Opens; Education Experts Set To Attend

Individualized instruction is the focus of a three-week arithmetic workshop for Nebraska elementary teachers that began here Thursday.

Plans and techniques for individualized instruction will be emphasized throughout the presentations and practical experienced provided during the sessions, according to workshop director Dr. James Fejfar, associate professor of elementary education, at the University of Nebraska.

Mrs. Dorcas Cavett, NU associate professor of elementary education, is co-directing the workshop.

Laboratory Planned

A math laboratory will be featured for the 45 students to work with the latest educational equipment and materials in addition to a series of speakers, discussion sessions and field trips.

Dr. Marilyn Zweng, associate professor of mathematics education at the University of Iowa, will head a workshop session on geometry in the elementary schools, utilizing the "discovery" approach.

The "discovery" method of teaching involves use of materials that point directions for students so that learners can discover math generalizations on their own, Fejfar explained.

Ziebarth To Speak

Dr. Rodney Ziebarth of the University of Nebraska at Omaha will speak on the Minnesota project of Minnemath which combines the teaching of science and math in the elementary grades.

Grand Island school principal William Hotz will preview the proposed math series to be developed next year for educational television. Mrs. Mary C. McCurdy, a Lincoln teacher, will report on her techniques for individualizing education.

The teachers also will have an opportunity to talk to authors of mathematics textbook series in a session featuring Dr. Zweng and Fejfar. Fejfar co-authored "Mathematics in Action," a series published by the American Book Co.

Your BankAmericard Welcome Here

POSTCARD by

The English rain came during the night while we rocked gently on the River Thames alongside a grassy bank.

It came spattering on the top of our rented cruiser. We wrestled side curtains on the wheel deck. Closed the skylights and hatches.

Gray morning came up over the Sinodun hills. I lit the two burner stove in the galley—(the dining table folds up and makes a bed)—and put on coffee.

We opened the doors into the other rooms. And the little boat was warm as money on the daily double.

☆ ☆ ☆

We are in the Upper Reaches now. The river is seldom more than 50 yards across.

It's wonderful rural country. Grazing black and white cows. Thatched country villages.

Men have lived in the Thames valleys for thousands of years. Wherever the dredgers work, the clay is sifted carefully. They bring up polished neolithic ax heads.

One cut at the bank opened a mass grave with Roman weapons — apparently Roman soldiers took a beating at the battle.

☆ ☆ ☆

There's a back reach of river just before Clifton Lock. A sign invited us to come up to "good moorings" at Plough Inn in Long Wittenham.

The mooring dock was a bit shaky. We tied up to oak trees at the riverside of a green English lawn. The kind that's been cut and rolled for hundreds of years. It has the look of piled carpet.

The Plough Inn is a short walk up among masses of white flowering trees.

There was laundry blowing on the line in back but no one in sight. I banged on a couple of locked doors. No answer.

☆ ☆ ☆

I went around to the front. The village street was empty except for an elderly lady with a shopping bag.

I said: "Do you think anyone's here?"

She jumped a little and said: "Dear me. What did you want?" She seemed to be a vague person.

I said: "I thought we'd get tea."

"Oh dear, oh dear," she said. "Tea? We've all had tea at home."

☆ ☆ ☆

I opened the door. On the other side was another door marked "Residents Lounge." Inside there were several overstuffed chairs and copies of "Boating Magazine."

An ancient clock on the wall was stopped at five past 12.

I went up the silent stairs. The bedrooms were made but empty.

Downstairs I looked for a bell and found a big brass gong. I hit it a loud bang. Clonggggg! It echoed through the house, died away in little ghostly shivers of sound.

☆ ☆ ☆

The little old lady was out on the street. She said: "Dear me, I must go see poor Mrs. Hatcher." And trotted off.

The pub sign — The Plough with the constellation of the Dipper — swung creaking in the breeze over the empty street.

I said: Forget the tea. Let's get out of here."

The river country here is full of ghosts. One is a woman's head you see floating just below the surface. Her voice bubbles up calling, "Revenge!"

☆ ☆ ☆

The ghostly lady has been exorcised several times. (It doesn't seem to take.) Once a Bohemian saint called in on angelic wings by the Abbot of Abingdon. (Worked for a few weeks. Then back she came.)

It was an eerie feeling. The silent house. The empty rooms. The dark overcast sky with a smell of rain. The laundry flapping in the yard.

We went back to the main channel and into the lock.

"Most likely went out to tea themselves," said he lock keeper. "Very lively place, The Plough is on the weekends."

Disaster Fund Bill OK'd By Senators

By Associated Press

A bill establishing a $1 illion natural disaster fund r the benefit of political ubdivisions was passed 40-0 n final reading in the egislature Thursday.

The money would be used for the benefit of cities and counties which find themselves placed in a financial bind as the result of flood, hail, fire, windstorm, excessive rain or snow or other natural disaster.

Earlier this session, lawmakers established a $1 million emergency fund to help cities and counties which encountered unusual expenses for snow removal last winter.

In effect, the measure passed Thursday, LB1416, converts the snow removal fund into a general aid fund relating to all natural disasters. Recommendations for the aid will be made by the adjutant general but require the approval of a board composed of the governor, attorney general, state auditor, secretary of state and state treasurer.

Another bill passed Thursday, DeWitt Sen. Willard Waldo's LB770, authorizes the State Agriculture Department to add up to three predator control aides to the staff, and authorizes an appropriation of up to $48,000 for the purpose.

LB770 needed 33 approving votes to carry the emergency clause which makes it immediately effective on the governor's signature, but received only a 27-14 nod with the emergency clause attached. Without the emergency clause, the bill carried 29-12.

Bills passed on final readingin the Legislature (E-emergency clause):

LB718 (Elrod, Danner, Swanson, Carstens, Moylan, Orme, Harsh, Adamson, Schreurs) — Prohibiting discrimination in the acquisition, ownership, possession or enjoyment of housing, and vesting enforcement authority in the Equal Opportunity Commission. (E). 38-6.

LB763 (Warner) — Replacing chief justice of State Supreme Court with medical dean on conefrence committee which determines disability of the governor. 44-1.

LB1413 (Revenue Committee) — Establishing a $1 million natural disaster fund to aid political subdivisions which shoulder severe financial burdens from flood, hail, fire, windstorm, excessive rain or snow or other natural disaster. (E). 40-0.

LB779 (Waldo, Schmit, Wiltse, Nore, Kremer) — Authorizing addition of up to three predator control aides to the staff of the State Department of Agriculture and authorizing appropriation of up to $48,000 for the purpose. 29-12.

LB853 (Carpenter, Waldron) — Increasing from $15,000 to $19,000 the salary of municipal judges in Omaha and Lincoln, and providing that salary of municipal judges in other cities be set by the city council or city commission. (E). 40-2.

LB1382 (Public Works Committee) — Providing that when the State Department of Roads acquires lands or property for highway purposes, the owner may be reimbursed for relocation or moving costs. (E). 44-0.

Law Allows $2,000 Yearly In Royalties

By Associated Press

Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer held Thursday that state law allows a county board member to receive royalties on supplies sold to the county by a company in which he is interested, if the amount does not exceed $2,000 yearly.

The opinion was drawn up by Assistant Atty. Gen. C. C. Sheldon to answer a question from Vernon F. Duncan of Franklin, Franklin County attorney.

Duncan inquired specifically about a case where a county buys gravel from a company which operates a gravel pit upon land owned by a county board member and which company pays to the county board member the standard royalties.

The opinion said the main question posed is whether the $2,000 exemption allowed by the statute refers to the total amount of compensation paid by the county for the gravel, or merely refers to the total amount of royalties which may accrue to the board member in any one year.

The opinion held that the county board could purchase gravel from the company as long as royalties accuring to the county board member from the company do not exceed $2,000 in one year.

Northern Seeks Colorado Firm

Omaha (AP) — The Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha and the Plateau Natural Gas. Co. of Colorado Springs, Colo., jointly announced they have agreed in principle for Northern to acquire the assets of Plateau for an undisclosed number of shares.

The acquisition is subject to the approval of various regulatory agencies.

$35,000 Suit Filed Involving 1967 Accident

A $35,000 suit was filed Thursday in Lancaster District Court by Rhoda F. Zlab in connection with a Dec. 27, 1967, two-car accident.

The plaintiff alleges negligence on the part of the defendant, David H. Davis, when the car he was driving was in collision with one in which she was riding at 48th and Vine.

She contends that Davis was negligent in failing to yield the right of way, in failing to stop before striking the vehicle in which she was riding, in failing to maintain reasonable control and in travelling at a speed excessive for conditions.

As a result of the accident, the plaintiff alleges she received multiple injuries.

Verdict Appealed In Murder Case

The State Supreme Court was asked Thursday to overturn the first degree murder conviction of Enoch Robinson, a Thurston County Indian now serving a life sentence in the Nebraska Penitentiary.

Robinson, who was convicted of the January stabbing death of Norman Grant in Macy, appealed to the high court on the grounds that the Thurston County District Court had allowed certain "irregularities" during his trial.

Former Coeds Are July Brides

At an early evening wedding on Thursday, July 10, the marriage of Miss JoAnn Marie Pepperl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pepperl of Burchard, to Sherman G. Mattison was solemnized at the Cathedral Of The Risen Christ. The lines of the service were read at 6:30 o'clock by the Rev. James Demuth, assisted by the Rev. Gregory J. Petrus.

Frocked in white dotted Swiss over yellow taffeta were the maid of honor, Miss Patricia Korthals, and the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Pepperl, Miss Theresa Pepperl and Miss Cathy Pepperl, all of Burchard, and Miss Margie Christensen.

Charles Neth of Waverly served Mr. Mattison as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Larry Peregrine of Grant, Robert Pepperl, Donald Pepperl and James Pepperl, Burchard, and Walter Power.

The bride appeared in an Empire gown of white bouquet taffeta and Venise lace. Lace fashioned the shoulder-wide yoke and bell sleeves above the slim skirt of silk, which was completed by a cathedral train. A chignon cluster of satin roses made in The Netherlands held to the head her train-length veil of Venise lace, and she carried a crescent of white glamelias and greenery.

Mr. Mattison and his bride will make their home at 1025 No. 63rd. A former student at the University of Nebraska, Mrs. Mattison is a graduate of St. Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing. The bridegroom attended the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The wedding of Miss Janece Paulette Ludi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ludi of Wahoo, and Louis J. Gogela, son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis J. Gogela, took place at a morning ceremony solemnized on Saturday, July 12. The Rev. Wayne Barthel read the lines of the 9:30 o'clock service at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Wahoo.

Empire frocks of white dotted Swiss over pale pink were worn by Miss Michelle Ludi, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Carol Graham, Hastings, Miss Cynthia Farrera, Wahoo, Miss Andrea Wood, Miss Diane Messineo, Miss Jacqui Glascock and Mrs. William Kenagy, all of Lincoln.

Serving Mr. Gogela as best man was John Freeman, Lincoln, and the groomsmen and ushers included Nicholas Ludi and Timothy Ludi, Wahoo, Charles Gogela, James Gogela, Thomas Novotny, William Kenagy, David Bingham, Barry Dunhaver and Richard Stemm.

The bride's sheath gown of white faille taffeta was veiled with peau d'ange lace to create the jumper silhouette. A petite silk bow marked the high waistline of the lace basque, and the slim lines of the skirt were emphasized by vertical panels of the lace. Her train-length illusion mantilla was bordered with lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Gogela will live in Omaha, where the bridegroom, a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, will enter the University of Nebraska College of Medicine. A member of Gamma Phi Beta, Mrs. Gogela received her degree in June from the University's School of Medical Technology.

IN suburbia

How quickly a week flies by. It seems as though it were only yesterday that we were talking about those Monday morning blues and how to cure them, and when we turned around it was Friday. For the less pessimistic, who don't look at the weekend as simply a two-day waiting period before another Monday, the weekend is probably the happiest and busiest part of the week. In the Lincoln area, especially during the summer months, suburban residents take full advantage of these 48 hours to plan countless parties and entertain numerous guests.

We know that for many Lincoln residents this will be an especially eventful weekend. For if things go as planned for the Apollo 11 crew suburban residents will be able to watch history in the making early Monday morning.

To celebrate this history making occasion we have heard of a special party that is being planned at the Wedgewood Manor home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stapleton for Sunday evening. The Stapletons' "moon party," as they are calling it, will start early in the evening with a buffet supper and will continue into the wee hours of the morning as they watch man take his first steps on the moon.

Guests will include Mr. and Mrs. John Heald, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whitcomb, Mr. and Mrs. James Keyes, Mr. and Mrs. Donn Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Les Henderson, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Olney, Mr. and Mrs. Don Leisings and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tearmering of Beatrice.

Entertaining an out-of-town guest has been on the social calendar at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Rheinschild during the past few days. Arriving at their Park Manor home on Wednesday was Mrs. Julio Camoriano of Chatsworth, Calif., and on Thursday morning Mrs. Rheinschild was hostess at a coffee given in honor of her house guest. Mrs. Camoriano, who is a former Lincoln resident, will be returning to Chatsworth later this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Lewis have been busy this week entertaining an out-of-town guest. Arriving at their Eastridge home on Sunday was Mrs. Lewis' mother Mrs. R. G. Belton of Basin, Wyo.

Not all of our news of out-of-town guests concern recent arrivals, however. We also have news of plans that are being made for visitors who will arrive later next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sorenson are busy planning for the arrival of Mr. Sorenson's brother-in-law and sister. Mr. and Mrs. G. Borglum and their four children Sherry, Jeannie, Eric and Sandy, who will come from Atwood, Ind. on July 27th.

Town Talk

Moon-walking hour is at 1 o'clock Monday morning which, on this Friday morning, seems a century away. In the meantime there will be anxiety and anticipation in every corner of the world.

* * *

Right now it would seem that there is a special emphasis on anticipation in this particular corner of the world — Earth people know that feeling when they go fishing.

We're sure that Dr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan, their daughter Miss Cynthia Morgan of Seattle, and their son, Philip Morgan of Portland, Ore., knew the meaning of the word 'anticipation' when they went salmon fishing off the coast of Washington not too long ago.

Dr. and Mrs. Morgan returned home last Monday from the Pacific Northwest and a salmon-fishing visit with their son and daughter. We hear that it was Miss Morgan who brought in the biggest salmon, and that Dr. Morgan's specialty was sea bass.

Anyway, before returning home Dr. and Mrs. Morgan went on to Vancouver, B.C., Banff, Lake Louise, Ranier Park — then turned homeward.

* * *

It was fishing that brought Mr. and Mrs. Rex Olsen and their two children, Kent and Kristen, from Denver to Lincoln — for a visit with Mrs. Olsen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Morgan. Mr. Olsen didn't spend much time in Lincoln, however — he and Mr. Morgan took off on a fishing spree. But we hear that they will be rejoining the family circle this weekend — and then it is back to Denver for the visiting foursome.

* * *

We can't let the day pass without news of at least one popular bride-elect. It is Miss Ann O'Connor, whose marriage to David Green will be solemnized on Saturday, Aug. 23.

Miss O'Connor has had almost a continuous round of parties in her honor — and there are more to come.

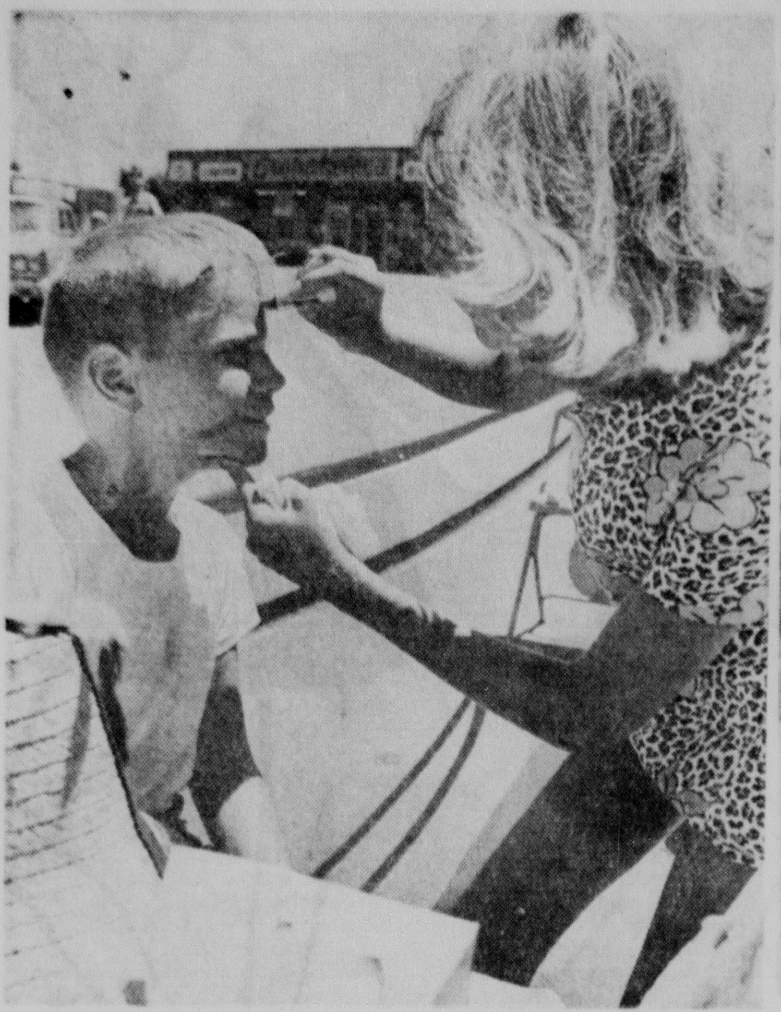
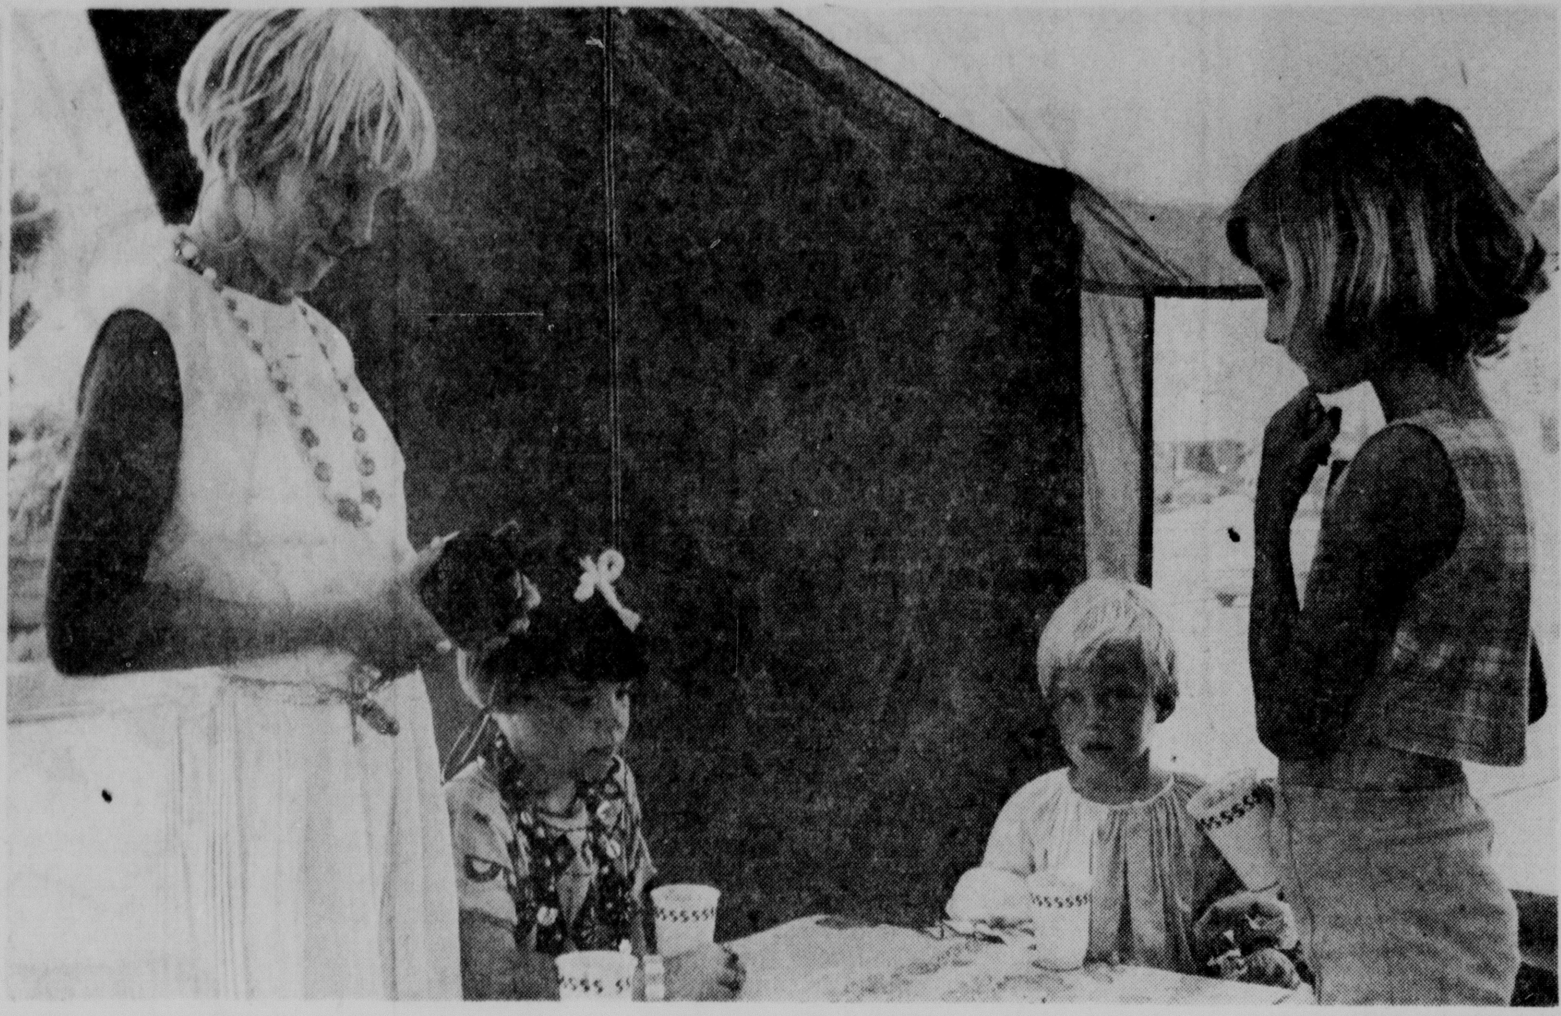
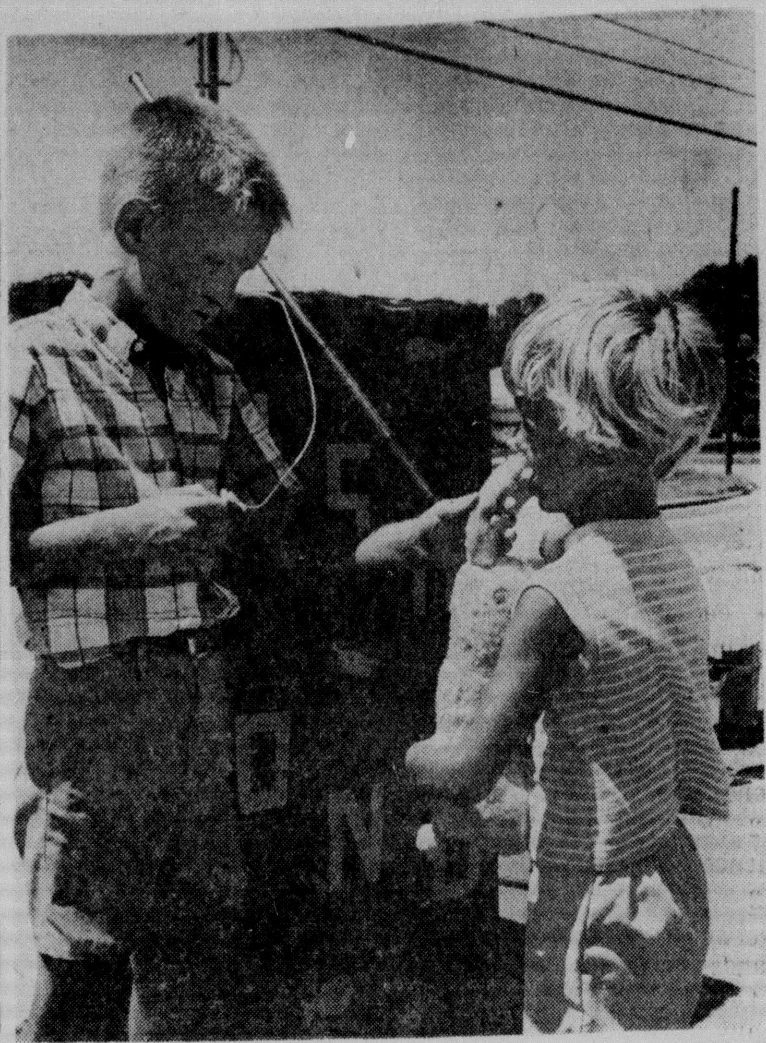
Young Amateurs Stage Benefit Carnival



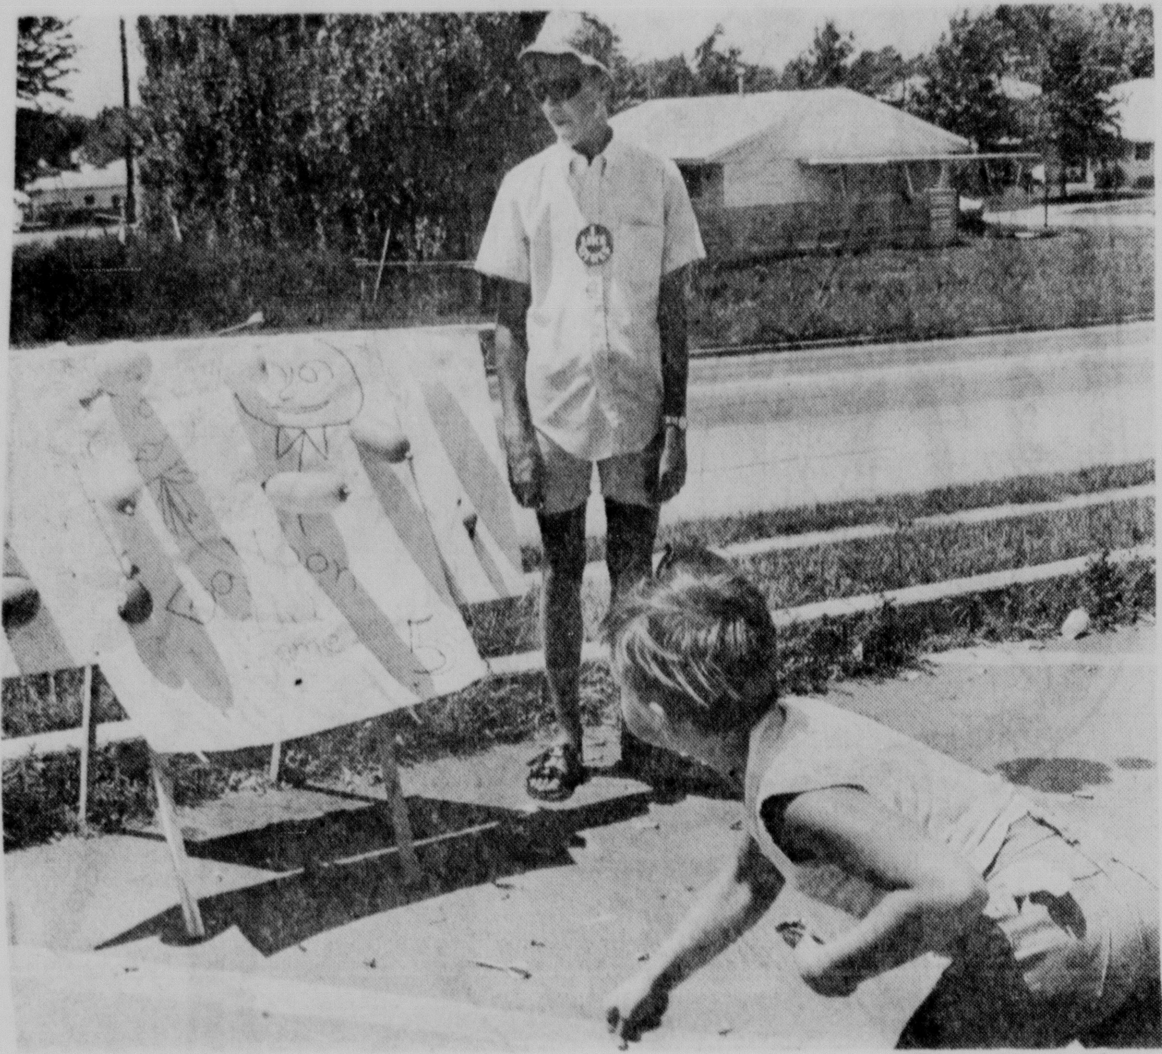
A popular "booth" at the Sunday afternoon carnival staged by Northborough youngsters proved to be the "Charm" booth where Kathy Putnam (in picture at left) generously applied make-up on all comers. Kathy is pictured practicing on her brother, Jeff. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Putnam.



At center is a "sneak" view of the Fortune-Telling tent where Sandy Putnam presided as chief "seeress". She is being assisted by (seated) Lori Pokorny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Pokorny, and Susan Klabenes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klebenes. The skeptical "customer" is Lynne Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Barrett.



A joyful carnival-goer at right is Debbie Woolman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clancy Woolman, who has just won a new (to her anyway) stuffed rabbit. She won it fair and square so her brother, Eddy, who managed the Fish Pond, had to give it to her.



Brian Bunde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bunde and manager of the dart game at the Meadow Lane carnival, seems a bit worried about his balloon supply as sharpshooter Terry Skoglund, son of Mr. and Mr. Silvan Skoglund of Norfolk, takes aim.

Never let it be said that the younger generation lacks energy — or that their amateur standing is any deterrent when the youngsters have a definite goal in sight.

Anyone happening to drive past the Meadow Lane Shopping Center last Sunday afternoon would have thought a professional carnival was in full swing. It was a carnival all right, and the "take" seemed professional but masterminding the neighborhood money-raising scheme were 23 Northborough youngsters who have had a gloriously busy two weeks preparing for the Big Day.

The funds will be presented to the Lancaster County Chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association to help provide equipment for patients suffering from the disease.

The young entrepreneurs not only provided their boundless energy, imagination and talent to the project, they also contributed some of their prized possessions as "prizes" for the various games and the "Fish pond" booth.

A neighborhood hero was Brad Bunde who volunteered to be the target for the marksmen throwing wet sponges. Local merchants generously contributed refreshments and all sorts of assistance, and the firemen from the Cotner and A Street Station demonstrated one of their trucks for the children. Don McCawley showed up with his miniature train, and the Shriners' calliope provided background music.

Altogether, it was quite a day and the contribution to the Muscular Dystrophy fund was $82.

Although many neighborhood youngsters participated, the group of 23 who were "in charge" included the children of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bunde, Mr. and Mrs. Clancy Woolman, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Klabenes, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Pokorny, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Putnam, Mr. and Mrs. Royal Cover, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mercier and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Felber.

Evening Ceremony

The candlelighted chancel of St. John's Lutheran Church in Norfolk, was appointed with arrangements of pink gladioli on Saturday evening, June 21, for the wedding of Miss Roberta Good of Norfolk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Good of Lincoln, and Virgil Gosch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Gosch of Randolph.

Mrs. Don Manke of Lincoln, as her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmatron, Mrs. Dale Hintz, Norfolk, sister of the bridegroom, wore daytime frocks of silk crepe in shades of peach and pink.

Serving as best man was Dale Hintz of Norfolk, and the groomsmen were Gene Mittelstaedt, Glenn Sampson and Gene Van Auker, Norfolk, and Terry Hendrickson of Magnet.

Re embroidered Alencon lace in floral appliques trimmed the bride's slender gown of white silk organza, which was complemented by a court train. Her circular mantilla of illusion was edged with lace.

Mr. Gosch and his bride, a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University and a member of Willard sorority, will live in Port Hueneme, Calif. He is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

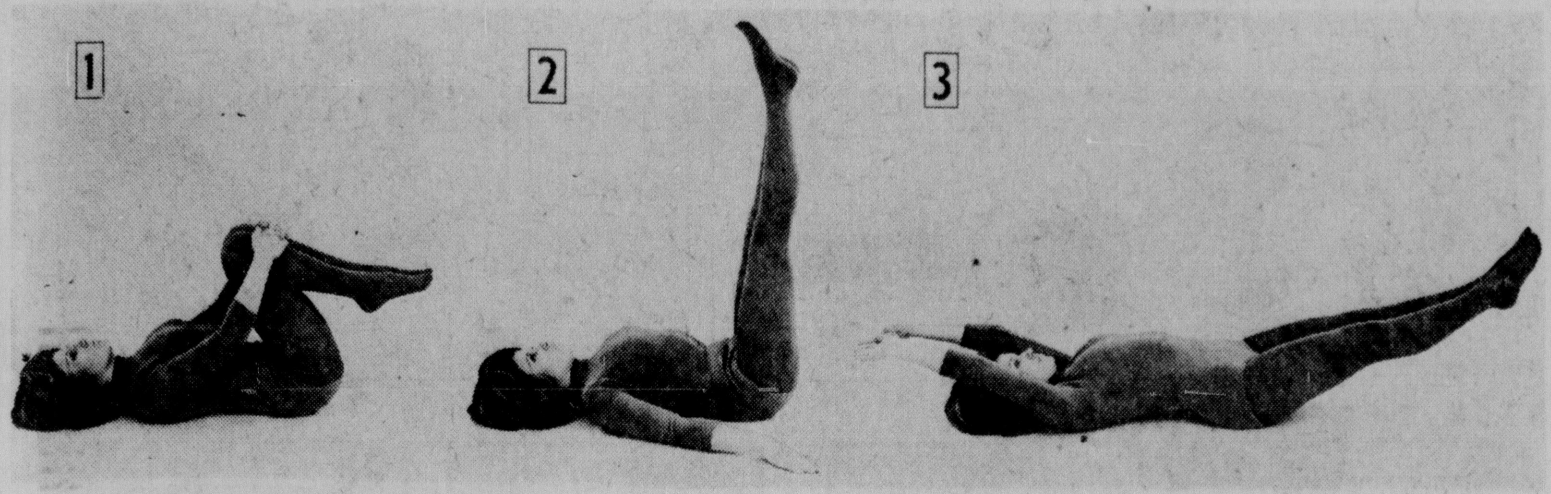
Keep Your Figure Trim



Josephine Lowman

Here is a little quiz for you. Write "true" or "false" by each statement before looking at the answers below.

1. You can decrease your measurements with exercise alone.

2. Exercise has no influence on weight reduction.

3. Most people are overweight because of their glands.

4. You can never have a really good figure after having a child.

5. You can decrease your measurements by improving your posture.

ANSWERS

1. True. You CAN decrease your measurements with exercise alone. You can redistribute your weight more attractively. However if you are quite a bit overweight your measurements will remain too large.

2. False. Exercise has a definite influence on weight reduction since it burns up calories. What we weigh depends on the ratio between the food we eat and the energy we use. If we eat more than the body requires for maintenance and activity then the surplus is stored as fat.

3. False. Only a very small percentage of overweights have a glandular deficiency. There are exceptions.

4. False. There is no reason why your figure should not be just as attractive as ever after having a baby, that is, unless you have become overweight during the nine months of pregnancy. Your abdominal muscles will be a little stretched and more lax, but you can snap these back into shape with exercise.

5. True. You can SURELY decrease your measurements by improveing your posture. You can take an inch or two off your obdominal and waist measurements by pulling your abdomen in and lifting your rib cage.

6. False. A person can grow taller after the age of 20 although most growth takes place before then.

So you knew all the answers and scored 100 per cent! Now check on your own curves and if they don't quite score as you would like, Josephine Lowman has an answer for you with her new "Dial-A-Figure" booklet.

Observe how nicely she is holding the floor down. She then checks to see if the ceiling is in place but her legs not being long enough, she instead stretches out to touch the walls at head and foot. Alas, the room is too large — but the model? With this exercise, she keeps a wee, tiny waist and that is what it was supposed to do all along.

TEST YOUR PLAY

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Hearts, North having overcalled your opening heart bid with a spade. North leads the jack of diamonds on which South plays the seven. How would you play the hand?

♠K2		♠10 3
♥KJ973	N	♥AQ1054
♦AK83	W E	♦542
♣54	S	♣AJ8

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump.

♠KJ4		♠10 2
♥K9	N	♥J63
♦AQ1083	W E	♦KJ5
♣A104	S	♣K9632

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 NT	Pass	2 NT	3♥
3 NT

North leads the ten of hearts, which you win with the king. You lead the ace of clubs, North playing the five and South the queen. When you play the ten of clubs, North follows with the seven. How would you play the hand?

1. The proper play is to duck the jack of diamonds, hoping to find the suit divided 3-3. In that case, after drawing trumps and cashing the A-K of diamonds, you will be able to discard a spade from dummy on the eight of diamonds and thus save one of the two spade losers.

North's hand may look something like this:

♠AQ974 ♥62 ♦J106 ♣K92

If you made the mistake of winning the diamond lead, therw would be no way to stop South from eventually taking the lead with a diamond to make the killing spade return.

2. The only question is whether South started with the singleton queen of clubs or the doubleton Q-J, and the contract will stand or fall on your decision at this point.

Problems of this type are not entirely guesswork. There is nerly always a straw in the wind to guide you. In the present case there is a very good reason for playing the king. You can reach this conclusion by making a supposition.

Let's start by assuming that South has the singleton queen, which in turn means that North has the J-8-7-5. If he had this holding North would presumably cover the ten with the jack in order to guarantee a defensive club trick.

ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The wife and I decided that after six kids (all boys!) we didn't want any more, so I went to the doc and he did what is called a "vasectomy" on me. It's a minor operation which he performed right in his office.

Three months later the wife turns up pregnant We couldn't believe it, but it was true.

I went back to that doc and what I told him you couldn't put in the paper. He ran some tests on me and sure enough his operation didn't "take," so where does that leave me?

When he gave me that operation he didn't say "Maybe." Now he tells me that it is highly unlikely that this kind of operation will "fail" — but it is not impossible. Can I sue the doctor?

SEEING RED

DEAR SEEING: Of course you can sue the doctor, but whether you can collect is another question. In the meantime, think pink, and pray for a girl.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and very much in love with a wonderful guy. There is only one thing wrong with him. When he makes a date with me I can never be sure if he will keep it or not. He has stood me up about half the time, but when he starts explaining the reasons, I forgive him and we start in again where we left off.

He's a real neat kid, Abby. Is there some way I can get him to quit standing me up? If it weren't for that, he'd be perfect.

WENDY

DEAR WENDY: That one "imperfection" is probably the most revealing clue to your boyfriend's character. His word is no good. If a man's word is no good, he is nothing. And a girl who gets involved with a guy like that is headed for misery. The word from here is "lose him."

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

Hit 'Em In The Body

Norfolk — The next time you're sitting at the ball park or watching a game on the tube and a pitch goes sailing under a batter's chin, you can show a lot of inside baseball savvy by turning to your neighbor and saying, "That one just got away from the pitcher."

And you can show even more savvy if a batter comes to the plate after hitting home runs the first two times up and gets hit in the knee with a pitch this time by saying, "The pitcher was retaliating."

At least that's the word from Omahan Bob Gibson, the St. Louis Cardinals' ace, in the current issue of Look Magazine.

"I've never seen or heard of a pitcher who really tried to hit somebody in the head," Gibson writes. "When you throw underneath a guy's chin, 99 times out of 100 you're not going to hit him, because he can see the ball better when it's near eye level than if it's anywhere else.

"If you're really trying to hit a guy, you don't throw at his head, you throw at his body. When a player gets hit in the head, it's usually his own fault, because the head is the easiest part of the body to move.

"The only reason for a man to get beaned is that he lost sight of the ball because of white shirts in the bleachers or because of some other distraction.

"If you want to retaliate for enemy attacks by actually hitting a man, you aim at the body. Not only can you be sure that you'll be on target but at least you won't break any bones, just raise a welt or a bruise."

Ohio State Picked

The first of many pre-season football forecasts to hit our desk is one conducted by ABC-TV which gives the pre-season national championship to Ohio State.

Behind the Buckeyes, in order, are Texas, Penn State, Notre Dame, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Southern Cal, Georgia, Alabama and Purdue.

Other teams receiving votes, listed alphabetically, were Auburn, California, Houston, Kansas, Michigan State, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, South Carolina, Tennessee and UCLA.

Five of the teams—Oklahoma, Southern Cal, Kansas, Minnesota and Missouri —receiving votes are on Nebraska's rugged schedule this fall...

Of the teams receiving votes, five of them are from the Southeastern Conference, four from the Big 10, three each from the Big Eight and Pacific Eight, and two from the Southwest Conference.

Whited Escapes Injury

D. W. Whited, who moved from Omaha's Ak-Sar-Ben track to ride at Denver's Centennial, was spilled from his mount, Drifty Dee a week ago, but escaped serious injury.

Whited was dumped when the mount fractured a leg shortly after the start of the race and Whited was at first thought to be hurt seriously.

However, examination disclosed only multiple scratches and bruises and he was cleared to ride a couple of days later.

Denver Broncos tight end Tom Beer was bragging to his teammates that his school, Detroit University, had retired his jersey number when he finished his career. They did. The school dropped football.

Oklahoma Choice For League Title

Lawrence, Kan. — The Big Eight's three bowl teams of last season — Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas — have been picked by midlands newsmen to finish in that order in the 1969 conference football race.

Oklahoma, which tied with Kansas for the Big Eight championship last year, was the popular choice of the record 202 sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the 24th annual survey.

The Sooners topped the ballots of 135 voters and were picked to finish second by 49 others.

Missouri, with 43 votes for first place and 99 for second, finished runnerup to the Sooners. Kansas was pegged third after receiving 11 first place ballots, 31 for second and 78 for third.

Oklahoma lost a 28-27 thriller to Southern Methodist in last winter's Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl. Missouri defeated Alabama, 35-10, in the Gator Bowl and Kansas lost to Penn State, 15-14, in the Orange Bowl.

Trailing the three leaders in order were: Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas State, Oklahoma State and Iowa State. The Buffs were tabbed for the championship by eight forecasters, while Kansas State received four first place votes and Nebraska one.

The Cornhuskers drew their most votes in the 4-5-6 positions, but were one of three teams getting support for all eight spots.

Closest race for positioning was between Oklahoma State and Iowa State for the final spot. Oklahoma State edged the Cyclones for seventh place by only 19 points.

A year ago Oklahoma was the choice of the pollsters and wound up tieing Kansas, which had been picked third.

ROSE, SHADE TIED IN STATE

Three-Under 141s Top Field

... BRIDGE TWO SHOTS BACK

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Norfolk — Two Big Eight golfers, Frank Rose of Nebraska and Jim Shade of Oklahoma State, gave the 62nd annual Nebraska Men's State Golf Tournament a definite collegiate tinge at the Norfolk Country Club here Thursday, but a 47-year-old Norfolk veteran began slipping up on the youngsters.

Rose, with a par 72 Thursday, and Shade, with a 70, share the lead going into today's third round with three-under-par 141s.

Another two strokes back after a 69 Thursday, the best round of the day, is Norfolk feed company executive Don Bridge, who has to be the busiest man in the tournament.

Bridge, who serves as president of the sponsoring Nebraska Men's Amateur Golf Association, is chairman of the tournament rules committee and even lined the bad spots on the course by himself the night before play began.

After the more than one inch of rain fell here Wednesday night and Thursday, he'll probably have to do the job over before today's third round.

Back at 144 with a second straight 72 is former champion, Gen. K. K. Compton of Omaha, another oldster at 53. Jack Flatt of Fremont is also at 144 after a one-under-par 71 Thursday.

Lincoln leftie Matt Taber, the state match play champion, moved into contention with a two-under-par 70 Thursday for a 145 total, only four strokes off the pace with 36 holes to play.

But defending champion Charlie Borner had trouble, shooting a 76 for 147 and eight-time champion Bob Astleford, trying to come back after a disappointing 19th place finish a year ago, shot 74 for a 146 total.

Jim Brownfield, a roommate of Shade's at Oklahoma State who was only one stroke back of Rose's first round leading 69 Wednesday, fired a 73 Thursday for a 143 and Norfolk's Jute Strasheim, who had a 71 Wednesday, slipped to 75 Thursday for a 146 total.

Shade's two sub-par rounds still left him one shot worse than he had hoped to be at the halfway mark.

"Before the tournament started, I had set 280 (eight under par) as a goal," he explained. "I still think it will take that to win it."

Reminded that golf pros who had played here Monday in the pro-am had predicted a winning total of ranging from even par to five over, Shade disagreed.

"I didn't think they knew what they were talking about," he asserted. "I thought it would take four rounds of 70 to win."

Bridge, who shot a 74 Wednesday and who like Shade is a member of the host club, indirectly agreed, although putting the winning figure at "about 283 or 284.

"I figure this course at par 70 and any time I shoot 74, I just figure I had a bad round," he said, referring to the Wednesday round in contrast to his 69 of Thursday.

"I'm a scratch golfer here and anytime I shoot worse than 70 on this course I figure I'm not playing well," he added.

Bridge stayed out of the tall rough here, hitting all but the first and 18th fairways with his tee shots while picking up birdie putts of two feet at the ninth, 35 feet at the 13th, and eight feet at both the 15th and 16th.

Shade also stayed out of the rough, hitting three and four woods on all but one tee. He picked up birdies at 12 with a 15-footer, the 18th with a two-footer, a five-footer at the sixth and eight feet at the ninth.

Rose played the sixth through the 12th holes without getting a par, birdieing the sixth, eighth, ninth and tenth, while bogeying the seventh, 11th and 12th.

Taber was particularly happy with his round, pointing out, "I played good and that makes me feel good for the rest of the tournament. I had been playing badly and this round is particularly satisfying, not only because of the 70, but because I hit the ball well."

He was three under par through the first ten holes before bogeying the 11th when his drive landed in the heavy rough and his second shot found a sand trap.

He came up with an all-American birdie at the 470-yard, par five 15th, hitting his tee shot into the right rough, then hooking his next shot across the 16th fairway into the right rough of that fairway. But he then pitched a sand wedge over the trees and made an eight foot putt for the birdie.

A score of 156 was needed to make the cut of 54 golfers for today's third round. The field will be cut to the low 32 and ties for Saturday's final round.

Fifth Ray, Oklahoman Big Winners On Thursday Card

. . . SCHULTZ SADDLES THREE SWIFTIES

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

Dave King piloted Fifth Ray to an upset victory in the featured seventh race while veteran Oklahoma owner-trainer G. W. Schultz won the lion's share of the other races at the State Fairgrounds Thursday.

Fifth Ray, owned by Omahan Lee Bevilacqua and trained by Louis Brandt, stunned 3-5 favorite Bob'n Swoon by zipping wire to wire for a two and one-quarter length victory.

Fifth Ray dashed the five and one-half furlongs in 1:07 3-5 in claiming the Diamond Bar & Grill purse, while Bob'n Swoon finished second, two and one-half lengths ahead of 5-1 choice Rowdy Boots. Roman Throw, Dixie Jet and Mucho Petro brought up the rear.

The winner returned $11, $3.20 and $2.60, while Bob'n Swoon paid $2.60 and $2.20 and Rowdy Boots $2.60.

It was Fifth Ray's second win in eight outings this season and left Bob'n Swoon, winner of over $18,000 last year, still searching for his first 1969 victory.

Schultz, an 80-year-old horseman from Marland, Okla., could not be beaten Thursday, as he sent three horses postward and greeted them all in the winner's circle.

Schultz, a regular at Ak-Sar-Ben since 1937, but a newcomer to Lincoln, had impressive winners with Monty's Flash in the first, Watchon in the fifth and Me Go in the eighth.

Watchon was making her Fairgrounds debut, while Monty's Flash had run second and Me Go third in earlier Lincoln starts.

Monty's Flash, with Terry Barnes aboard, went off at 3-5 and proved she deserved that rating by charging to a 10½-length, wire-to-wire win in the first half of the daily double.

A four-year-old filly, Monty's Flash, sped the six-furlongs in 1:13 2-5, quickest time of the meeting for that distance. She returned just $3.20, $3 and $2.40 and set up the smallest daily double of the meeting. Millie O. won the second race to complete a 1-9 double ticket that paid a trim $13.20.

Leading jockey Fred Ecoffey got his only two wins of the day aboard the other Schultz entries. Ecoffey rode Watchon, another 3-5 favorite, to a 1:13 4-5 clocking in the six-furlong fifth race, then finished the day by guiding Me Go (3-2) to a two-length victory over Triple Springs in the mile and 70-yard eighth race.

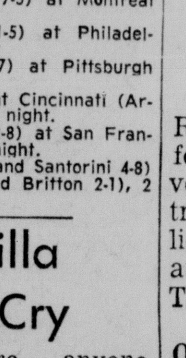
"Run For Life" Club To Aid Medical Fund

Members of the Lincoln YMCA's "Run For Your Life" club have planned a special run Saturday morning to aid the fund for Mrs. Gene Wolken, who is in need of a kidney transplant.

Several local firms have agreed to donate a dollar to the fund for every mile the club members run. The event will begin at 9 a.m., with the members having set a 100-mile goal.

Aunt Priscilla Ready To Cry

If there were anyone around to provide some comfort I think your poor old Aunt Priscilla would just cry.



Priscilla

Vinseo, who I bet to win the sixth, couldn't find running room and ran a poor fourth. Bob'n Swoon, my win pick in the seventh, finished second as Fifth Ray was just too fast for him Thursday.

And both of my horses had Fred Ecoffey on top. If you can't win with Freddie, who can you win with!

I think I'l give Freddie another chance by betting $2 to win on his sixth-race mount, Dusky Rag. For my other Friday bet, I'l try $2 to win on Hopit De Hoop in the eighth.

Let's hope one of these comes in, because my $100 spree fund is already down to $83.40. Uncle Charlie would be ashamed.

Shrine Profiles

MIKE THOMPSON

If Blair's speedy Mike Thompson gets close enough to the goal line while playing for the North squad in the upcoming Shrine Bowl all-star football game, he can probably score by just making a big leap for the end zone.

Thompson

The 5-10, 173-pound speedster, in addition to being an all-state football choice, was runner-up in the long jump in the state track meet.

Mike, who will wear No. 11 when he preforms for coach Hank Amend's Yankee squad, was also a qualifier in the midwest regional junior Olympics last summer.

Thompson is working in the construction field this summer to stay in shape for the Shrine game. He plans on following a business career.

STEVE GREEN

The president of the senior class at Boys Town during the past school year, Steve Green is looking forward to playing in the Aug. 23 Shrine Bowl All-Star football game.

Green

It will be his swan song in Nebraska before departing for Iowa State, a school he'll attend on a football scholarship.

A football and baseball letterman at Boys Town, Green is planning on following a career in designing after his graduation from college.

Fans at the Shrine game may be confused with a fleet-footed back wearing No. 71, a number normally worn by a lineman.

The 6-1, 160-pounder will be performing for Coach Roland Carter's South squad in the 11th annual grid classic.

Auto Race Tracks Planning Merger

. . . FOUR SOUTHERN OVALS INVOLVED

Charlotte, N.C. (AP)— A possible merger of four of the South's major auto racing tracks, plus network television coverage of races, was announced Thursday by track officials.

Representatives of the Charlotte Motor Speedway, the North Carolina Motor Speedway at Rockingham, Darlington, S.C., International Raceway and Bristol, Tenn., International Raceway and Dragway made the announcement.

Richard Howard, vice president and general manager of the Charlotte Track, said a corporation would be formed to handle promotion, advertising and public relations for all four tracks.

The merger, Howard said, would also give the tracks an opportunity for television contracts. Howard said two of the major TV networks have made proposals for coverage.

He expressed confidence that the stockholders of the four tracks would agree to the merger. Stockholders could either sell their shares or exchange them for stock in the over-all corporation under the terms of the merger proposal, Howard said.

Each of the four tracks is valued between $2 million and $3.5 million, Howard added, and is free of debt.

If the merger is approved, it would be the second track consolidation this year. Directors of the new Michigan International Speedway in Detroit gained control of the Atlanta Speedway and a track in Riverside, Calif., through a purchase-merger agreement.

The Michigan group is planning to build another track in the New York-New Jersey area and is constructing a facility in Texas.

Howard said the consolidation has been approved by NASCAR officials. All four tracks are affiliated with NASCAR, which is the largest organization for sanctioning stock car racing.

Boynton, Dickson Lead Philly

Philadelphia (AP) — Frank Boynton and strong, young Bob Dickson trudged through the muggy Whitemarsh Valley to a pair of 67s and a share of the first-round lead Thursday in the Philadelphia Golf Classic while the oppressive heat knocked out U.S. Open champion Orville Moody and at least five others.

Moody, the 35-year-old former Army sergeant, complained of stomach cramps while playing the 14th hole. Medical help was called, oxygen administered and the holder of the world's most pretigious title was taken off the course in an ambulance.

He was rushed to the clubhouse and was in good condition. He was one over par at the time he was forced to withdraw from the $150,000 event.

Injured Hartack To Return Soon

Inglewood, Calif. (AP) — Veteran jockey Bill Hartack, who hurt his back during a spill in the fourth race at Hollywood Park Wednesday, said Thursday he hopes to ride again in "two or three days."

Hartack said his mount, Talking Barberob, "got me in seven or eight places when he went over me but it's my back that hurts the most."

X-rays taken after Hartack was thrown showed no fractures or internal injuries, only back injuries and contusions, and he was released. Hartack will receive therapy in the jockeys' quarter Friday.

SF Outslugs LA, 14-13

By Associated Press

San Francisco tightened the National League's West Division race by shading the Los Angeles Dodgers 14-13 in an old-fashioned slugfest Thursday. A total of 31 hits were made in the game.

The Dodgers exploded for seven runs in the top of the seventh to take a 13-11 lead, but the Giants won in the bottom of the seventh on Bob Burda's three-run homer. Bobby Bonds helped the Giants with five RBIs on two homers and a single. Maury Wills batted in four runs for the Dodgers.

The defeat cut the Dodgers' lead in the West to one-half game over the Atlanta Braves, who shelled Cincinnati 12-2, and to one game over the Giants.

Felipe Alou, Rico Carty, Bob Didier and Clete Boyer each got three hits to contribute 12 to the Braves' total of 20 as they made it easy for Phil Niekro to chalk up his 15th victory, most in the majors.

The St. Louis Cardinals continued their surge by trimming Philadelphia 11-3 for their 12th victory in 14 games.

Doubles by Ty Cline and Coco Laboy in the eighth inning gave Montreal a 5-4 triumph over Pittsburgh in the only other NL game.

Brooks Robinson's two-run homer in the eighth gave Baltimore a 3-2 squeaker over Cleveland. Detroit shaded Washington 4-3 on Willie Horton's three-run homer in the first inning and good relief pitching by Fred Lasher and Don McMahon.

Harmon Killebrew swatted his 29th homer to help Minnesota to an 8-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox as the Twins closed their greatest home stand ever with a 14-1 record.

The Boston at New York Yankee game was rained out.

Oakland led Seattle 4-1 after six innings.

Bankers Topple Bellevue, 6-4

First National Bank gave up two runs in the top of the first inning to Bellevue in Junior Legion baseball action at Sherman Field Thursday night, but bounced back with three runs in the same frame and went on to claim a 6-4 victory.

The big blow in the Bankers first inning comeback was a two run single by George Binger.

The visitors regained the lead in the third stanza with a pair of tallies, but again First National matched the effort with the help of a wild pitch and Jerry Lutz' run-producing single.

The Capital City club added an insurance run in the seventh frame when Bob Schemmel stole third and scored when the Bellevue catcher's throw went into left field.

The midget game ended in a 4-all tie because of the time limit as Roberts-Skyline hosted the Bellevue nine in the opener.

Nancy Kirsch claimed the other spot in today's championship finals with a 4 and 3 win over Omaha's Debbie Berg.

The Friend-Roberts match was all even at the end of each nine, but Miss Friend registered a par four when they replayed the first hole to end the struggle.

We don't have to start from scratch each year.

We've been making the same basic VW for so long now, you'd think we'd be bored with the whole thing.

But the fact is, we're still learning.

For no matter how perfect we think one year's model is, there's always an engineer who wants to make it more perfect.

You see, at the Volkswagen factory we spend 100% of our time making our car work better and 0% making it look better.

Any change is an improvement.

And when we do make new parts we try to make them fit older models. So there's nothing to stop a Volkswagen from running forever.

(Which may explain why Volkswagens are worth so much at trade-in time.)

Starting from scratch each year can get in the way of all that.

Just when they've ironed out the kinks in the current model, they have to face the kinks in the next.

We'll never understand all the hoopla over the "big changes" for next year's models.

Weren't they proud of this year's?

Bonds Says He's No Homer Slugger; Twins' Worthington Thinking Straight

By Associated Press

Bobby Bonds will never be convinced that he is a home run hitter, no matter how many he hits.

As the San Francisco Giants prepared to go into an important four-game series with the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday, Bonds had hit 18 home runs and was batting .282, second only to Willie McCovey among Giant regulars in both departments.

But while Bonds with his speed — 25 stolen bases in 27 attempts this season — and power resembles nothing so much as a young Willie Mays, he disclaims all notions of being a home run hitter.

"I can hit a home run, but I'm a line drive hitter," he says. "If I hit 30 or 35 this year, I still won't think I'm a home run hitter."

On Wednesday against San Diego, Bonds not only hit his 18th homer of the season — a three-run shot that made the difference in a 4-3 victory — he also passed two milestones.

In the sixth inning, he struck out for the 100th time this season and in the eighth he doubled for his 100th hit of the season.

"I don't know what it is about the strikeouts," he says. "They seem to come in streaks like the homers. I may go a week and only strike out twice and then go a week and strike out 20 times. It'll catch up with you."

When Mays is in the lineup, Bonds bats leadoff, but he takes Mays' No. 3 spot when Willie is being rested. It makes a difference, Bonds says.

"I like to lead off," Bonds says. "I don't pull the ball so much then. I like to hit the first pitch. I like to hit the first pitch of the game. That's why I really like to lead off."

In his first full season in the majors, Bonds is happy with the way things have been progressing except for the strikeouts.

Al Worthington, 40-year-old Minnesota Twins reliever, says the hitters got ahead of him in the thinking department while he was thinking of coming out of retirement.

Worthington retired after the 1968 season when he recorded a league high of 17 saves. When the Twins ran into pitching problems earlier this season, manager Billy Martin talked Worthington into rejoining the club last month.

It's taken Worthington about a month to get into shape, and he admitted he was at his season's best as he pitched four innings of relief Wednesday night and ran his record to a 4-0 in Minnesota's 9-8 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the first game of a doubleheader.

Worthington struck out six batters, including five of the first six he faced. He also pitched his way out of a serious jam in the ninth when the White Sox got runners on first and third with no outs. Two batters grounded out as one run scored, but he struck out Rich Morales to end the game.

"The hitters were ahead of me in the thinking department," Worthington said. "I forget about that. You have to think with the hitter."

One month ago in one of his first appearances, the California Angels bombed the side-winding right-hander for six runs and six hits.

"Since I wasn't in shape," said the Birmingham, Ala., resident, "It was kind of like spring training to me. While the hitters were playing, I was sitting at home."

Worthington now has appeared in 19 games since quitting his retirement, giving up 29 hits in 26 2-3 innings, yielding nine earned runs and striking out 28.

"It was a nice game to win," Worthington said about his latest victory. "I feel like I'm in pretty good shape now."

Even when the White Sox, who had a season high of 17 hits, including five singles off Worthington, rallied in the ninth, Martin decided to stick with his pitcher in the tense situation.

"Al did such a good job, I thought I'd let him go all the way," Martin said.

Baseball Book Is Available With All Info

New York (AP) — The complete record of every man who ever played in a major league game will be recorded in a new baseball encyclopedia to be published in September by the MacMillan Company and Informations Concepts, Inc.

The massive work of 2,300 pages is the culmination of two years of work and was compiled entirely from a massive data bank consolidating previously-untapped material from trade papers, public and private libraries, historical societies and reels of local newspaper microfilm dating back to the early 1870s.

For the first time there will be available such features as Ty Cobb's career run batted in total, Cy Young's earned run average and the actual number of double plays made by the famous 1906 Chicago Cub trio of Joe Tinker-to-Johnny Evers — to Frank Chance.

The encyclopedia, sanctioned by the major leagues as an official source of baseball information, adds a tremendous amount of information from 1871 to 1920 never before compiled. There are 17 columns of information on each batter, 19 for each pitcher.

Price of the book is $25 and interested fans can write to The MacMillan Co., Box 38, F.D.R. Station, New York, 10022, to obtain it.

Jackie Stewart Drives 129 MPH In Practice

Silverstone, England, (AP) — Jackie Stewart of Scotland, runaway leader in the 1969 world driver championship, had the fastest practice lap Thursday in warmup trials for Saturday's British Grand Prix auto race.

Eleven drivers shattered the lap record for the Silverstone circuit, but the young Scot in a Matra-Ford registered 129.61 miles an hour, nearly six m.p.h. faster than the circuit record.

Battle Deaths Lowest Since Early January

Saigon (AP) — Reflecting the quiet battlefronts, American and enemy combat deaths dropped last week to the lowest point since the first week in January, the U.S. Command said Thursday.

The command reported 148 Americans were killed in the week ended Saturday, well below this year's weekly average of 243.

The previous low was 101 Americans killed in the week ended Jan. 4.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong lost 2,051 killed by official count. South Vietnamese losses were 352 killed, the lowest number in six weeks but only slightly below the weekly average.

The lull on the battlefields, where there have been no major clashes in nearly a month, undoubtedly was included in the briefings given Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Advance Blunted In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The stock market was a winner again Thursday, although an early, sharp advance that sent the averages bouncing higher lost a lot of its glitter by the close.

The Dow Jones industrial average, for example, ran up nearly seven points in the first half-hour of trading, and, although the pace slowed it, it was up 8.02 at 12:30 p.m. EDT. But it turned after reaching that high point, and at the close it was up 3.75 at 853.09.

Gains fattened an early lead over losses to better than 500 issues, but that too eroded. Of 1,537 issues traded, 784 advanced, and 502 declined.

Analysts said the advance was blunted, in part, by "some speedy short-term profit taking" and by the New York and American stock exchanges announcing that they would close Monday. President Nixon has declared that day a national holiday in honor of the Apollo moon landing.

The holiday makes for a three-day weekend for the stock exchanges and, an analyst said, "long weekends make a lot of people cautious. A lot of things that can affect the market can happen during that time."

The trading pace slowed a bit, with 10.45 million shares changing hands, compared with 10.46 milion Wednesday.

Some of the companies connected with the Apollo 11 moon shot, which an analyst said seemed to "give the psychology around here a bit of boost," also got a bit of a boost.

McDonnell Douglas rose ¼ to 29%; North American Rockwell, up 1⅛ at 31⅝; Boeing, up ⅜ at 37, and General Electric, up 1¾ at 87%. Grumman Aircraft was unchanged at 29½.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up 1.2 to 302.4, with industrials up 2.7, rails up .6, and utilities unchanged.

Oil issues turned in a mixed performance.

Twelve of the 20-most-active stocks on the New York Stock Exchange were lower, six higher, and two unchanged.

Xerox, most-active on 157,100 shares, lost ⅞ to 93.

There were 64 blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the Big Board, compared with 66 Wednesday.

Prices generally were higher on the American Stock Exchange.

The Amex index gained 7 cents to $27.21. Of 1,024 issues traded, 503 advanced, and 332 declined

Volume was 3.75 million shares, compared with 3.92 million Wednesday.

Steers And Heifers Are Scarce

Omaha (AP) — Steers and heifers were too scarce to test the market adequately in Omaha Thursday. Limited sales were rated steady.

Cows made up the bulk of the supply and sold strong in rather active late-week trading. Partial credit for the sparky action was given the carcass trade which turned steady to 50 cents, instances 1.00 higher late Wednesday.

However, it was a different story in the steer and heifer beef segment of the trade. Heifer beef, a dollar lower on the late Wednesday close, was handed a 50-1.00 reading in the early going Thursday.

A few good-choice steers were traded 29.50-30.50.

Butcher hogs were steady to 25 lower, most of the downturn on weights under 240 lbs. bulk top Thursday was 27.00.

Stock Exchanges To Close Monday

New York (AP) — The New York and American stock exchanges said Thursday they will close Monday in observance of the national day of participation declared by President Nixon to mark the Apollo 11 moon landing.

Corn Futures Prices Climb

Chicago (AP) — Nearby corn futures advanced nearly 1½ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday, but gains in new crop corn and wheat and soybeans — which advanced almost as much early in the session — were sharply trimmed at the close.

Trade was, at best, only fairly active.

The principal factor in the buying of major commodity futures was the weather. Too much rain overnight over wide sections of the central United States might have had a harmful effect on new crop growth, thus traders avidly bought corn and soybeans futures during the opening minutes, then turned to selling at a quick profit.

Corn later made a comeback as commercial interests which had been short in the July option liquidated positions rather than fight the pit Tuesday, when the July goes off the board.

Monday will be observed on the board as a holiday.

At the close, wheat was ¼ to ½ cent a bushel higher, July 1.26¼; corn was ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, July 1.29¼; oats were ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, July 61⅝.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Stock Prices In Balance With Wall Street Gossip

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Other Ways

Without fear of contradiction, it can be stated dogmatically that prevailing stock prices are in precise balance with current Wall Street gossip.

When speculators were recently seized with fear as David Kennedy, secretary of the Treasury, remarked for the second time that, if Congress did not renew the 10% surcharge as requested by President Nixon, the administration might reluctantly turn to wage and price controls.

This added to the prevailing gloom.

But it is not so many months ago during the period of what some people cynically discounted as "campaign oratory," that Nixon indicated that he would not favor extension of this emergency tax beyond June 30.

Justifiable Thoughts

Right now with the crushers of monetary and fiscal policy not yet stopping the cost of living rise, the second thoughts of Nixon about extending the surtax temporarily are justifiable.

But there are other ways short of threatened "wage and price controls" for calming down the inflation through backing up the monetary and fiscal restraints, with or without the surtax.

At a time when statistically there are still labor, material and productive capacity shortages, it ill behooves the federal government to keep up its stimulating spending pace at or near the all-time peak. (The economies thus far have been of the token variety.)

The administration on its own could join with the restrictive forces at work by postponing or withholding for a time nonessential federal outlays for goods and services.

Even in the sordid, vote-seeking terms of the present, it seems clear that the political future of President Nixon and his supporters hinges on success in solving problems, not in appeasing blocs.

Obviously, if the inflationary psychology is broken, even temporarily, there will be some payoff in terms of a change in full employment, in sales and in profits. If this current experiment in managing the national economy is to have any chance of success, it is better to cut off the dog's tail in one fell swoop than in installments.

Obviously, calming down the inflation will offend some of the "jackass" groups who equate money depreciation with the attainment of social goals. But the disenchanted ones already voted "no" on Nixon last November, and the loss of their cheers, whether temporary or permanent, will not be fatal to him.

But it would be disastrous for this country to go the way of Latin America and other parts of the world which deepen poverty by inflating the currency through making irredeemable promises of social gains through the simple device of passing "bread and circus" laws.

If managing the economy means that a cabinet member is to be used to scare people by threatening economically unsound measures, such as "wage and price" controls, then this method creates a credibility gap and militates against confidence. Furthermore, "wage and price controls" are no cure of monetary inflation; they merely take away from individual and corporate citizens the legal right to test at the market place the buying power of money.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Question of general interest will be handled in the column. Others to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Elementary Teachers Attend 3-Week Reading Workshop

Elementary reading instructors, school principals and supervisors will be trained in leadership skills needed to organize and operate developmental reading programs during a three-week workshop which opened here Thursday.

Dr. James May, associate professor of elementary education at the University of Nebraska, and Dwight Grandgenett, reading consultant for the Lincoln Public Schools, are co-directing the reading program for 54 persons from throughout the state.

Guest lecturers for the workshop will include:

—Dr. Donald Richardson of the University of Kansas, speaking about the organization and administration of developmental reading programs, other special programs and a Denver, Colo., reading study.

—Ronald Meyer, director of the Reading Clinic in Omaha, speaking about reading readiness.

Czech Refugees Come To Live In Town Of Wilber

Wilber —A refugee family from Czechoslovakia surprised the Czech capital of Nebraska Thursday by arriving by plane to become residents.

Arriving late Thursday night at the Lincoln Municipal Airport were Bohumil Solc, his wife Zdenka and two teenage sons. They were greeted by a Nebraska Czechs of Wilber delegation.

"We had expressed interest in sponsoring such families several months ago, but have heard nothing until a call came Thursday," said Mrs. Lumir Ourecky, president of the ethnic organization. "We're more than pleased."

A mason by trade, Solc has already been promised a construction job on the new Wilber-Clatonia school building. The family flew in from New York.

Lincoln Soldier, Thomas Hempel, Dies In Vietnam

Spec. 4 Thomas Eugene Hempel, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Hempel of 3533 No. 48th, was killed Tuesday in Vietnam at the age of 22.

He had been stationed with the Army 101st AirBorne Division in Vietnam since Aug. 1, 1968. He was in civil affairs and general operations.

Mr. Hempel entered the Army in August 1967, after attending the University of Nebraska.

A native of Lincoln and a lifetime resident, he was a 1965 graduate of Lincoln Northeast High School.

He was a member of First United Methodist Church.

Survivors besides his parents include brothers, James R. and Donald E., both of Lincoln; sister, Mrs. Richard Bomberger of Reseda, Calif., and grandmother, Mrs. Ivy Vannoy of Lincoln.

Meyer Reports 'Light' Response To Drug Refunds

Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer Thursday reported a "very light" response from Nebraska citizens in position to claim refunds for overcharges on certain drugs.

Five large drug manufacturers have offered to settle for $10 milion the suits filed against them nationaly under federal anti-trust laws. Nebraska, with other states, is party to the suits.

Individual Nebraskans who brought the broad spectrum antibiotics involved during the period of 1954 through 1966 may present their claims by writing the clerk of the U.S. District Court in New York City. These claims must be made no later than Aug. 16.

Formal legal notices to this effect have been published in many of the state's newspapers.

Extension Of Voting Rights Law Okayed By Committee

©The New York Times

Washington — The House Judiciary Committee voted down two key sections of President Nixons' voting rights program and then approved a simple five-year extension of the present law.

A bipartisan coalition rejected two administration proposals that would have extended the present seven-state ban on literacy tests to the entire nation and prohibited any residency requirements for voting in presidential elections.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., who heads the Judiciary Committee, said many members favored the principles underlying both defeated amendments but did not want to endanger passage of the extension bill by encumbering it with possibly controversial side issues.

Celler and the ranking committee Republican, Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, promised to join in developing a broad voting reform bill later this year, when the sticky issues of voting rights and electoral college reform have been settled.

Such legislation, the congressmen said, would deal not only with literacy tests and residency requirements but also with such problems as voting fraud and uniform national voting hours to reduce the influence of East Coast results on the West.

The voting rights extension bill will now go to the House Rules Committee, whose chairman, Rep. William Colmer, D-Miss., is, like most southerners, opposed to any continuation of the voting rights act beyond its expiration date of Aug. 6, 1970.

Thant's Postcard Stays On Earth

©The New York Times

United Nations, N.Y. — Embarrassed officials admitted Thursday that Secretary General U Thant's postcard to the moon is not going to be delivered after all.

The postcard carrying seven United Nations stamps and bearing the 225-word preamble of the United Nations Charter was supposed to have been rushed last weekend to Cape Kennedy. Thant had asked that the first man to set foot on the moon place it on the lunar surface" as a token of faith in the objectives of the United Nations Charter.

Officials who handed out photographs of the postcard and said it was aboard the Apollo 11 and "on its way" announced with regret that they had been mistaken.

It was explained the postcard arrived too late and authorities at the mission control center at the Cape decided that the project had been dropped "in consideration of decontamination procedures and weight considerations."

PAYOFF NEAR

David Threllfall of Preston, England, can anticipate a big payoff if the moon ship touches down on the lunar surface. Five years ago, the 26 year-old Threllfall, an avid science fiction fan, placed a bet with a London bookmaker that men would land on the moon by 1971. His foresight stands to be rewarded with a check of $24,000.

Reds Heap Abuse On Thieu's Plan

Paris (AP) — The Viet Cong and North Vietnam rejected and heaped abuse Thursday on South Vietnam's free election plan after it was presented at the peace talks.

The United States warned that rejection cast grave doubts on the other side's willingness to negotiate.

Both the formal submission of the plan and its rejection had been signaled in advance and the delegates went through their prepared speeches like a ritual. The 26th weekly session of the talks thus produced neither a surprise nor any discernable movement toward a settlement.

Made July 11

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam proposed July 11 that the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front should be allowed to take part in internationally supervised elections, provided it abandoned its recourse to violence.

Thieu said the front could join in controlling the elections, but the Saigon government would retain responsibility for organizing them.

South Vietnamese delegate Pham Dang Lam told the meeting all details of the plan and other matters related to restoring peace remained open for direct negotiation with the NLF. But he ignored the provisional revolutionary government set up by the Viet Cong last May.

U.S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge warmly endorsed Thieu's proposals.

Neither North Vietnam's Xuan Thuy nor the Viet Cong's Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, showed the slightest interest in discussing the Thieu plan other than assailing it.

Thuy said the Thieu plan "would lead to elections under the bayonets of American troops, organized and controlled by the puppet administration, which could lead to nothing but a new puppet regime paid for by the United States."

2 Churches Okay Intercommunion

Denver (AP) — Two of the country's three major Lutheran denominations reached full intercommunion Thursday, bringing the union of the more than 9 million American Lutheran members a step closer.

The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod agreed at its general convention to let its three million members take communion at the altar of the separate American Lutheran Church of 2.6 million members, in a reciprocal arrangement that also allows exchange of preachers in each other's pulpits.

The ALC voted last October for full fellowship with the Missouri Synod.

Almost 1,000 delegates to the synod voted on the plan, known as "pulpit and altar fellowship," late Wednesday night. The vote count and approval, 555 to 438, were announced Thursday.

Court Upholds 7 Klansmen's Convictions

New Orleans (UPI) — The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals Thursday upheld the conviction of seven Mississippi Ku Klux Klan members involved in the 1964 murders of three civil rights workers.

The Klan members were among 18 the Justice Department charged with "conspiring to injure, threaten, oppress and intimidate," the three slain men — Michael Schwerner, James Earl Chaney and Andrew Goodman.

"We find ample proof of conspiracy and each appellant's complicity in a calculated, cold-blooded and merciless plot to murder the three men," the circuit court said.

The seven were Billy Wayne Posey, Cecil Ray Price, Horace Doyle Barnett, Jimmy Snowden, Jimmy Arledge, Alton Wayne Roberts and onetime Imperial Klan Wizard Sam H. Bowers Jr.

Major Power Outage 'Unlikely' Despite Heat

Lincoln residents have no reason to fear major power outages such as those which struck the area during the summerof 1966, according to Howard Ericksen, executive manager of the Nebraska Public Power Service (NPPS).

However, Ericksen warned that "anything might happen" when peak irrigation loads come in conjunction with peak air conditioning loads.

Such conditions arise as a result of high temperature and humidity, crop irrigation needs, and other factors, Ericksen said, noting that the NPPS had already met an all-time high peak load of 999,700 kilowatts earlier this week as a result of high temperatures.

Other than in cases of simple mechanical failure, major outages occur when the load on a generator exceeds its capacity, causing automatic shutdown. The resulting overload on other generators may cause them to shut down also in a chain reaction.

Erickson said that underfrequency relays, which trim general power output to an acceptable total level, and load-shedding relays, which sacrifice power service to small areas to prevent the whole region from suffering outage, will go into effect if demand should ever exceed the 1,029,000 kilowatt load capacity.

Moreover, he said that an addition to the Sheldon generating plant at Hallam has increased peak capacity since 1966. A 325-kilovolt line connecting the NPPS system with the Bureau of Reclamation power system in South Dakota is under construction, and is scheduled to begin transmission next summer.

The NPPS serves the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska, exclusive of Omaha, with wholesale power.

No Action Taken By OPPD On High-Speed Rail System

Omaha (AP) — Omaha Public Power District's board took no action Thursday on a Lincoln engineer's request for funds to help finance a study of building a $60 million high-speed elevated railcar system between Omaha and Lincoln.

The study would cost $85,000 with about one-third of the total needed from private and public agencies in Nebraska, according to Douglas McKnight, president and consulting engineer of Management Operations Research and Engineering.

The remaining money would come from the U.S. Department of Transportation, McKnight said.

The train would reach speeds of 130 miles an hour suspended 17 feet above ground, he said. The system would include a roadway for electronically piloted cars, pneumatic tubes for mail and high-voltage power transmission lines.

McKnight said construction could be financed through tolls charged passengers in the railcar and in autos and the revenue from mail and electricity carried by the system.

Barney Dudden, Venango, Killed In Road Accident

Holyoke, Colo. (AP) —Barney A. Dudden, 83, a Venango, Neb., businessman was killed near here Thursday in a crash of his car and a pickup truck.

The collision occurred at an intersection of U.S. Highway 6 and a county road about one mile east of here.

The Colorado State Patrol identified the driver of the pickup as Norman S. Adrian, 53, of Buhlar, Kan. He was treated for minor injuries.

A native of Glenvil, Neb., Dudden was the founder of the Dudden Grain Elevator in Venango and the Dudden Implement Co. of Venango and Grant.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, three daughters and 17 grandchildren.

Group Makes Ecumenical Parish Plans

A group of Catholic and Protestant clergymen is considering the formation of an ecumenical parish to serve the residents of Arnold Heights, formerly the Lincoln Air Base housing area, according to Dr. Carroll H. Lemon of the Nebraska Council of Churches.

The group proposes the use of the former air base chapel and Holy Cross Lutheran Church as a center for many community and religious activities. Both Catholics and Protestants would use the chapel for joint cooperative activities while still holding separate worship services, according to Lemon.

The first demonstration of interfaith cooperation will be a survey of the Arnold Heights residents, Monday evening, Lemon said. Workers from the community and many Lincoln churches will conduct the survey.

The planning group includes the Rev. Raymond Hain of St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic Church; the Rev. Leroy Hass and Dr. L. R. Davis of the Nebraska Council of Churches; and Lemon, executive secretary.

State Open Housing Measures Passed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Thursday enacted on a 38-6 vote an historic statewide open housing act, broader than the federal fair housing law of 1968.

The measure, LB718, becomes law upon signature of the governor.

It forbids discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin or ancestry in the sale, rental or acquisition of housing.

The only major exception applies to persons who offer for rent in their own home not more than four sleeping rooms.

Minor Exemptions

Other minor exemptions include religious organizations which may limit housing privilages to persons of the same religion and private clubs which are not open to the public. In neither case, though, may the housing be offered for commercial purposes.

LB718 also re-enacts state law prohibiting discrimination in public accomodations and employment, and guarantees the rights of free speech, thus gaining the statutory title of the Nebraska Civil Rights Act of 1969.

Three Omaha senators and three outstate lawmakers voted against the bill. All six Lancaster County senators voted to enact.

Nay votes were cast by Sens. Clifton Batchelder, Bill Bloom and George Syas, all of Omaha; Robert Clark of Sidney, C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, and William Wylie of Elgin.

Four senators were absent, and Sen. Rudolf Kokes of Ord declined to vote.

The new law will be administered by a seven-member Equal Opportunity Commission appointed by the governor. The commission, in effect, is a reorganized version of the present Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The commission will investigate complaints, attempt to resolve disputes by conciliation and persuasion and, if necessary, commence civil action in district court if it deems the complaint justified.

Litigation on behalf of the commission will be conducted by the attorney general.

County attorneys may also enforce the act, if a complaintant chooses to file his allegations with the county attorney rather than seeking redress through the commission.

Courts may provide injunctive relief pending disposition of a case.

Local Authorities

LB718 also authorizes cities and counties to adopt equivalent civil rights ordinances and resolutions. Any that do would have first jurisdiction in handling any complaints within their border

In order to head off possible difficulties in seeking compliance with the new law, the Equal Opportunity Commission is directed to undertake educational and consiliatory activities throughout the state.

LB718, sponsored by Sen. Donald Elrod of Grand Island and eight co-signers, emerged from a Legislative Council study committee recommendation. It was drafted by a combination of interests, including civil rights spokesmen and real estate representatives.

With its enactment, the state will acquire jurisdiction from the federal government in administering fair housing guarantees.

The vote on the motion to enact:

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest sort of army to keep our country free of litter.

But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember: Every Litter Bit Hurts.

This is our land. Let's treat it right.
